On the Ball

Sports, clubs, projects, games, jobs, and homework. These are a few things that always keep a General on the go. Schedules are tight, with one activity after another. If not a club, then perhaps a sport. Or maybe even both! Students are always working on a school related activity. Nights are spent working on homework and projects or attending the exciting games and events. Weekends are spent at dances, working on carwashes, club projects, and various fundraisers.

The following 248 pages are full of fun-filled memories and perhaps some not-so-fun memories. However, they are all a part of each and every student at Washington-Lee. Some day in time, you'll find a few free moments to look back and remember your high school days with great fondness. These pages portray the constant endeavors of the students in a way that shows how, in the end, the Generals must always stay ON THE BALL!!!

— Han Hong

Band member Scott Newton keeps the Generals rolling during the halftime show.

Cheerleaders keep spirits high in the stands and on the field, leading Generals to victory.

An ecstatic crowd cheers as the Generals score again.

Rolling On

As you step into the realm of the Washington-Lee society, you will find a culturally diverse and friendly atmosphere. The familiar smells of school days return to you, filled with nostalgia and memories. The parking garage where the student parking lot once stood reminds us of our senior escapades. The press box, now deteriorating, after twenty layers of paint is declared toxic, like that of two decades prior, which was also condemned. Coach Muskett and Coach Pototsky's loving care made the fields a lush verdant oasis in a society dominated by steel and concrete. Despite the changes, Washington-Lee remains a familiar place that reminds us of our carefree days when we were constantly on the ball!

— E. J. Terminchi

Daro Lawrence is on the ball in the 90's as he strives to be a tennis star.

A vision of shimmering steel, the new pressbox is brought to life by the addition of the colorful creation sporting the Generals logo.

The view seen by 1200 Washington-Lee students as they entered the building.

Ballston Common was a favorite hang-out for Washington-Lee High School students both for entertainment and work.

The Senior class is on the ball, as they "bust" George out of captivity.

Life's a Ball

As we go bouncing through school we each have different thoughts and interests. One person might love movies. While another might like to go down to Bon Air park. While still another might go up to Ballston Common or any other place and put on that uniform that distinguishes you, the employee, from them, the customer. Whatever the activity and wherever the place, a photographer was there to snap a shot. In this section, we will show what many students accomplished to become a part of the classification ON THE BALL!

F. J. Termosich

Matt Poteet, Karin Pettit, Barbara Parrella and Jeremy Rinker stop working at the Senior float to pose for a quick shot Cristina Rente, Lisa Kearny and Karen Stocks show off their best smiles.

A group of Seniors grab their books and rush to their next class.

Generals Take the Ball

It was a cold night on October 26th but that didn't stop the Generals from breaking a record. For the first time in seven years, we won our Homecoming Game! We destroyed the Wakefield Warriors with a final score of 14-6. Spirits soared as Generals fans packed the stands and cheered our team onto victory.

Senior spirit really shined through this year in Homecoming activities. Not only did the Seniors receive first place in Hall decorating, but they dominated the float contest, winning first place with the theme "Warp the Warriors." Second place went to the Juniors' "Brew Crew '92." In third place were the sophomores with "Whack a Warrior." Finally, fourth place went to the freshmen with "Can't touch this."

Despite the chilly weather, this year's Homecoming attendants were fired up for their roles in the halftime activities. Representing the Freshmen class were:

Michael Morgan, Diana Kittleman, Manetho Baker, and Teddy Key. The sophomore attendants were Melanie Asp, Sheila Barber, Maurice Terry, and Ray Deskins. For the Juniors, the attendants were: Kelly Munly, Melia Arnold, Omar Shorter, and William Turk. The attendants for the Senior class were Shauna Vick, Tricia Clark, Ginger Harvey, Corey Mazer, Horace Willis, and Elgin Moore. Finally, the moment all of us were waiting for. This year's Homecoming King and Queen were Corey Mazer and Ginger Harvey. When asked about how it felt to be "King," Corey replied, "It feels great to win, but what is important to me is knowing that I have the support of my friends. It means a lot to me."

— Lisa Eichers

Betsy Stevenson and Leona Cooper are two of the many Madrigals who sang during the half-time festivities, at the Homecoming game.

And here is the final score on that momentous night. Once again, the Generals come out on top!

Sugar Strawn seems to be enjoying the band's music, as the Generals score yet another touchdown.

Coach Muskett leads the team in the "Pledge of Allegiance" before the big game.

The Generals burst through the Homecoming banner, ready to defeat the Wakefield Warriors.

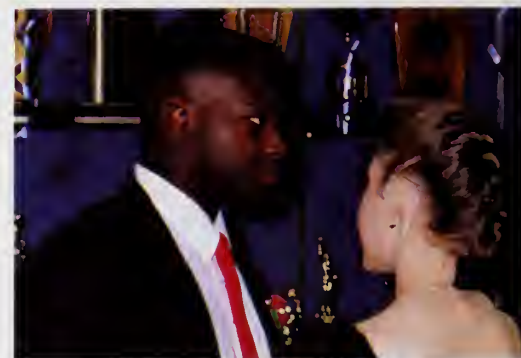

Ashley Golden dresses in a Wakefield jersey to be part of the Junior "Brew" of Warriors.

Sophomore Grace Harmon plays with the rest of the band. The liveliness of the band encouraged our team on to victory!

Homecoming Queen Ginger Harvey and King Corey Mazer smile for the crowd as they walk across the field together.

A group of Juniors seem happy to have received second place in the float contest, as Justin Mog waves a mushroom from their "Brew."

Jon Hennessee and Kelly Munly wait patiently as they turn in their dance tickets.

We greatly appreciated the wonderful volunteers at the refreshment stand.

These people just couldn't believe how much fun they were having at the dance.

Corey Mazer and Ginger Harvey, our King and Queen lead the Royal Dance.

We enjoyed the music from one of the singers from the band Finale.

Karen Stocks and her boyfriend take this opportunity to talk alone.

AT THE BALL

Finally, the traditional Homecoming Dance had arrived. It was the one moment that most of the students had been anticipating since the beginning of the school year. The dance was held on October 27, 1990, and lasted three fun-filled hours.

"I Need Your Love," was chosen as this year's theme. It was found through the song "Unchained Melody," by the still popular Righteous Brothers. Finale was the name of the band that played top forties music. Overall, the couples seemed to enjoy the different selections.

Ginger Harvey and Corey Mazer were crowned Queen and King of the ball. The other senior attendants included Tricia Clark, Shauna Vick, Elgin Moore and Horace Willis.

Our dance was especially important this year because the Generals defeated the Warriors at the game on Friday. It has been such a long time since we've won our Homecoming game and our victory was well deserved. At this dance everyone was out to have a BALL!!!

— Audrey Wright

Socializing in the main hall was a great way to relax in between dances.

John Schaefer and Tracy Pilot pose for a picture before they head over to the school.

Caryn Faltz, Sherae White, Nataki Green, Keisha Ricks and Monique Pulliam turned W-L back into time during Blast from the Past Day.

Kosal Hem, Tahera Lakhani, Jagdeep Sehmi, and Chani Vargas showed us the spirit and style of the 90's on Dress-Up Day.

Nothing stands in the way of Mike Cowell and John Harrison, not even Twin Day.

"Great Balls of Fire!!!"

It seemed like the beginning of yet another Monday . . . with only one exception, it was the beginning of Spirit Week. This was the week which everyone had been waiting for since it is one of the most exciting weeks out of the entire year. To kick off the celebration, twins, twins, and more twins. The halls were crowded with real twins, boyfriends and girlfriends as twins, best friends as twins, and make believe twins.

BOOM!!! Blast from the Past arrived on Tuesday. Togas, poodle skirts, pony tails, and bell bottoms everywhere. Washington-Lee had turned back time.

Suddenly, suits, ties, and dresses on Wednesday. Dress-Up Day brought out the style combined with spirit in everyone.

Then there was darkness and then there was light. Oblivion Day (Black and White Day) awaited W-L. Black shoes, white shoes, black shirts, white shirts, white socks, black socks, . . . a wave of black and white swirled around W-L.

As the halls of the school darkened on Thursday afternoon, light once again. It was hall decorating time. W-L spirit shone brightly up, down, and all around the place. It was a time for everyone to go wild and crazy with spirit.

"Go Blue, Go Gray!" was the phrase heard by everyone on Friday, Blue and Gray Shine Day. Blue and Gray were everywhere; balloons, signs, streamers, students, and teachers were all part of the festivities. At the end of the day, everyone gathered for the traditional Homecoming pep rally. Excitement and spirit were in the air and it was easy to see W-L's Great Balls of Fire!!!

— Eduardo Contreras

Debbie Winkler and Tracy Bennett shine with spirit at the Homecoming game.

Joanne Ramirez and Lara Johnson brightened up Black and White Day with their smiles.

"Black is our color," said Nini La and Kim Tran by dressing up for Oblivion Day.

Best friends Carolie Nye and Karen Cunningham started out the week by being twins.

Summer Vacations What a Ball!

The Generals had many things to say about this past summer. Many were good, and few were bad. One of the most popular sayings about the summer was, "It ended."

A lot of interesting things happened during the summer of 1990. For example, there were cross-country bicycle trips. And traveling in Australia and France. Then there were those of us who stayed in Virginia.

Justin Mog and Naomi Wiersma traveled, on bicycle, a total of 1,100 miles. As Justin puts it, "It's getting back to nature." "Nature's cool," replied Naomi.

Tuong Quoc Ta went to Melbourne,

Australia, this summer. He spent three weeks with his grandparents at their home.

Senior, John Larson and post-grad, Elizabeth Gurney traveled to France. John really enjoyed his visit. He described Paris as, "a lot like Washington, D.C." The most interesting things he saw while he was there was Notre Dame and his bed after a long day touring.

All-in-all I believe that the Generals really had a ball during the 1990 summer break. Hopefully the next summer will be just as great.

— Gala Webb

Friends joined together on a hot day.

Justin Mog and Naomi Wiersma at the end of their long bicycle trip in San Francisco.

ROLLING ON THE WEEKENDS

Thank God it's Friday! It's time for fun and relaxation. Most students can't wait to hear the 2:10 bell ring. The whole week is spent planning for the weekend activities. Now it is time to put this plan into action.

On Friday evenings students attend football or basketball games. I can hear the crowd now, cheering and shouting our team to a victory. After the game students proceed to McDonalds to plan the activities for the rest of the night.

Saturday morning is always tough for students after that long Friday. On Saturday, most of the time is spent at home, considering most people don't wake up until 2:00. Parties, movies, or just spending an evening at home with that special one are just a few highlights for a Saturday evening.

Sunday, the last day of rest, but aren't we forgetting something; we have homework to do. Now the weekend is over.

— Nataki Green

Shamika Hall and friends cheer our team to a homecoming victory.

Malcom Dade is chillin with his buddy Special Ed.

Tracy Pilot, Barbara Parella, and Michelle Pavitt seem to have had a hard evening out.

Kerry Hurt and Becky Signer spend a warm weekend at the lake.

Cindy Stephens takes time out of her busy schedule to participate in the junior carwash.

Lihn Tennes and Daniel Lazure are knocked out at this slumber party.

Christine Rivero and Michelle Kennedy celebrate Christines little sister's birthday.

Bouncing Baby Who?

Our parents are always telling us how fast we've grown up, but we never really stop to think about it. With all the pressures of High School life, it's hard to believe that there was a time when school meant drawing turkeys from the outline of your hand and fingerpainting. Ah, it was so much easier back then! These pages are a little reminder of what life used to be like. Hopefully, they will provide some fond memories! How many people can you recognize?

— Lisa Eichers

The Madrigal Singers bring holiday cheer to the crowd by singing holiday songs and carols.

Santa and elves (Ethan Ritz, Michelle Pavitt, and Melanie Sigros) take a break to do some late minute shopping.

Naomi Wiersma walks around with McGruff the Crime Dog (Justin Mog) promoting the slogan, "Take A Bite Out of Crime!"

Patricia Aviles and Vanessa Cardenas sell authentic Bolivian dishes to raise money for the Bolivian Club.

Peter Komoutseas is overjoyed with holiday spirit.

Shauna Vick shows her boyfriend Hank Proctor the techniques of making a crepe.

Anh Bui is excited to see so many homemade crafts at the Holiday Bazaar.

"Hear the Christmas Bells Ring!"

The annual W-L Holiday Bazaar was held on December 8th. The Senior Class did a great job sponsoring the event under the leadership of Linda Hong. As usual, there were many vendors displaying and selling their homemade crafts, ornaments, toys, and woodworks.

The many different clubs and organizations also took time to raise money while having fun. The German Club sold their famous sauerkraut and sausage once again. The Key Club, in their spirit of competition, sold hot dogs which stole some of the German Club's customers. The International Club sold many tasty and exotic foods from around the world, giving a bit of culture to the atmosphere.

The band sold grapefruit and oranges while the Madrighal Singers sold wreaths, funnel cakes, and Christmas carols. They also took time out during the day to entertain the crowd by singing such songs as Fum Fum Fum by Robert Shaw and Sing We and Chant It by Thomas Morley.

Santa and company also showed up to join the festivities, bringing even more holiday cheer. The Christmas madness was everywhere . . . songs, food, gifts. Everyone could hear the Christmas bells ringing!

— Eduardo Contreras

Susan Southerland and Rick Schettler take a moment to show how much fun they are having at a football game.

Melanie Sigros and Brian Michael are caught enjoying some time alone.

Troy Lucas and Artis Mooney spend as much time as possible with each other.

William Turk and Nataki Green show some style in their relationship.

When Love Rolls Along

These are the years that we are all going to cherish throughout our lives. They become precious not only by what we do, but also because of who shared those experiences with us. Some of us have someone with whom we love to be around. We are with them for several different reasons. The most important, however, is because of the way they make us feel.

Not everyone has found that someone special, but keep your eyes open, love works in mysterious ways. You never know what could happen. The couples shown here are just a few of the many that fill our school. The love here is very important, and so is the friendship.

— Audrey Wright

Justin Mog and Naomi Wiersma have been a couple for three years and are still going strong.

Betsy Stevenson and Bruce Hickey attended Kate Stevenson's wedding during the summer.

Hank Proctor and Shauna Vick are reunited after her 4 week stay at the French Academy.

La Eichers and Panos Boudouvas happily spend the afternoon together.

AS THE BALL TURNS

As the ball turns, the fashions and fads of the nineties change a great deal. Hair, clothes and jewelry play a great role in the average high school students life.

It is hard to determine what's in and what's not. People with different ethnic backgrounds have different styles of dressing.

Mini skirts, silk shirts, and hoop earrings are in for the average female, and rugbies, guess jeans, and name brand tennis shoes are in for the average male. Starter jackets and leather trenches are worn by both girls and boys (pictured at right).

As the ball turns we will see what's in for next year.

— Nataki Green

Karen Wood wears the basic mini-skirt accented with a dressy black blouse.

Logo T-shirts are always in style, like this "In Living Colour" T-shirt.

Josh Stamper wears the basic black to accent his hair.

Ellihue Henderson sports the in style fisherman hat.

Tito Cerda, Charles Sweazie, and Nelson Sera show off their silk shirts and guess jeans.

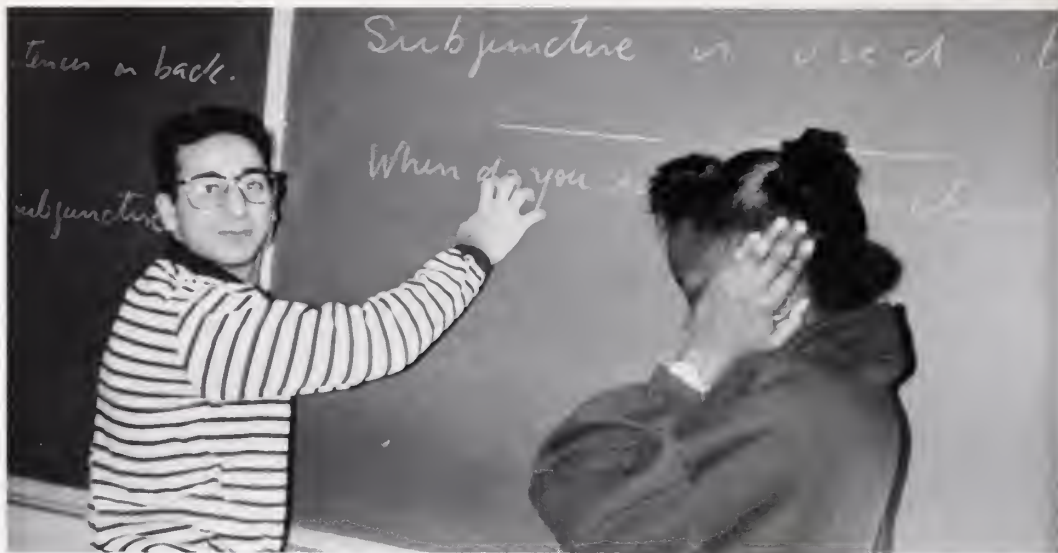

The basic Black leather shoe is in for both girls and guys.

Sarah Skeen has a unique style of her own.

Freshman Joy Houston dislikes the screeching sound of nails on a blackboard.

Jamie Somers says, "Stop! Don't take my picture!"

Don't you hate it when everything falls out of your bookbag right when the bell rings?

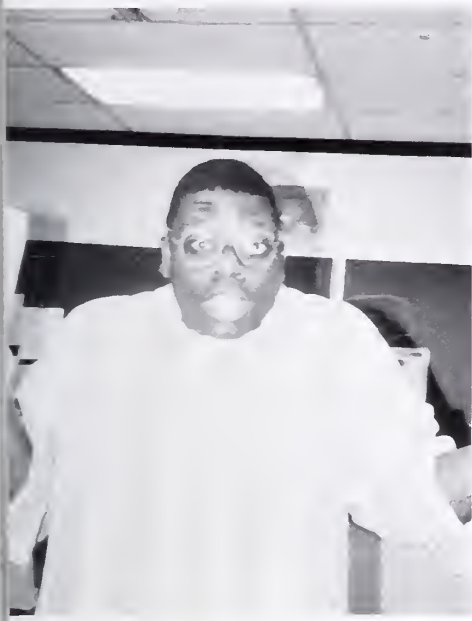

Greg Pons. Would you mind moving your head?

Steven Cooper hates having to prepare his piece on his kneecaps.

Deflating Patience

Tony Brawner says, "Don't you have the correct change?"

Pet peeves are the things that make our lives a little bit more harried. Everybody has one, whether it be gum popping to brown nosing. As Lisa Eichers says, "I hate it when I am at a red light in the left lane and the person in front of me decides to put on their left hand turn signal after the light turns green." But for some of us "non-drivers", pet peeves mean trying unsuccessfully to open your combination lock. The girl sitting in back of you in Spanish class starts to crack her gum. You forget that you have a fourth period test and the bell to end third period has just rung. To make matters worse, during that important fourth period test, the guy sitting next to you furiously starts to tap his pen on the desk making it unbearably hard for you to concentrate.

All these things are a part of everybody's life. No matter how irritating these pet peeves may be, they will always exist. I hate it when . . .

"It gets on my nerves when the same announcement is made everyday at 2:25."

— Audrey Wright

"I hate to see guys wearing their pants half-way down their rear."

— Nataki Green

"It annoys me to see a person start to tap one leg furiously while sitting."

— Michael Hutchinson

"I hate it when you fall asleep in class and you wake up to answer a question and you have a trail of saliva drooling down the side of your mouth."

— Brendan Holland

"I hate it when people whine."

— Hani Hong

— Sue Sorrell

Natasha Safo wishes she could get in on this juicy conversation.

Grace Harmon hates having to cram for that awful Geometry class.

Some students' pet peeve is an uncomfortable chair.

Mrs. Axiotis just loves it when everyone is on time for Yearbook class.

Friends Keep The Ball Rolling

It's not very often when you find someone who will always be there for you. Those who do are lucky. Even if he or she is not a best friend it is special to share some fun with others. They're always with you and they will stay with you all the time. If you're feeling down, they always have sympathy and always cheer you up. Friends give you a shoulder to cry on. They put their trust in you when they tell you secrets or share jokes. They are the most tolerant people you will ever meet. What qualities do you look for in a friend? Melanie Sigros says, "Someone you can relate to and who is honest and giving." Leslie Earle says, "Friends are there through good and bad and if you have a friend you should be really glad."

Kerry Hurt says, "True friends are like ivy on the wall, both stand together and together they fall."

Friends are the most tolerant people you will ever encounter, and they give the best and the worst times of your life. The memories they leave with you are the things you remember most.

— Lynn McHugh

Audrey Wright and Danielle Lazure had a great time at the beach.

Maurice Terry, Jamie Somers, Ellihue and their friend Sean are always willing to pose for a picture together.

Lisa Eichers and Karin Pettit have been good friends for a long time.

Despite their differences in height, Tim Bransford and Linda Hong are still best friends.

Tracy Pilot and Tricia Clark are all dressed up for Homecoming.

Rolling in the Wrong Direction!

People in Class don't always do what they should. From sleeping in class to squirting hypodermic needles, students do crazy things sometimes. Panos Boudouvas says, "Sometimes people just get too overwhelmed. They need to relieve stress, and this is how they do it".

Have you ever fallen asleep in class and forgotten where you were? Many students say that they get so little sleep at night that they can't help but fall asleep in class. Teacher reactions vary. Some teachers are known for slapping rulers on desks to wake students up, while others play practical jokes, such as turning off the lights in class and changing the clock forward a few hours.

Then there is the classic "notewriting" in class. We often find ourselves looking around to see who else is paying attention, and find that people who look like they are working, are really keeping up their social communication. Many teachers also become enraged when they find a student doing work for another class. Don't these students know that this is their most important class? Some teachers realize that they cannot force an unwilling student to learn and they let them continue with their crazy antics.

No matter what they say, most students know when to say "enough is enough". There is a time for play and a time for work. These pages should show the playful side of classroom activities.

— Lisa Eichers

Kamrun Arif, Jun Yang, and Leona Cooper spend time in class, looking at pictures, instead of working on a group project.

Matt Seidman checks safety equipment, just in case he starts a fire while working on a Biology lab.

Mike Signer tries to wake up Yang Shim, when he discovers that the bell doesn't quite do the job.

Kevin Hannam finds that caffeine helps him stay awake in class.

Michelle Pavitt decides to pass the time brushing Tracy Pilot's hair, instead of paying attention to the lecture.

Kyle Talbott decides that he can't wait for lunch, as he eats his sandwich during 5th period Functions.

John Hennessee tries to hide from his teacher when he remembers that he forgot to study for his Biology test.

Justin McCrary finally figures out that staying up all night does have its drawbacks.

Adam Riggs and Matt Seidman go through the teacher's grade book to determine their grades.

"Here's a Little Murder Mystery!"

"Ten Little Indians", the fall play this year, was a tremendous success. The drama department outdid itself with a thriller/horror story by Agatha Christie. The story depicts a group of people who are mysteriously invited to a remote island. Once there, people begin to get killed and soon each person is suspicious of the other, wondering who the murderer could be. It soon became clear that as each person was killed a little Indian doll on the mantle disappeared. Finally, in the end of the play, the most unsuspected Justice Lawrence Wargrave (Sean Moran) is found to be the murderer.

Looking around the auditorium, every person seemed to be on the edge of their seat. Reactions to the play were great. Many people thought that a murder mystery was an original idea for a school play, so they were excited to see it.

The "Ten Little Indians" cast was composed of Jon Hennessee, Gayle Boseley, John Vernier, Ghita Harris, Justin Mog, Bayn VanDoren, Tony Brawner, Kevin Lilly, Lauren Seikaly, Sean Moran, and Melia Arnold. Everyone was proud that their hard work had paid off in a successful performance. Jon Hennessee, who has been involved in other W-L plays, such as "Tea House of the August Moon", "Brigadoon", and "the Imaginary Invalid" says "I had a lot of fun with this play. Working with such a small cast was different, but certainly enjoyable. It allowed us to grow pretty close."

Many people feel that the drama department doesn't receive as much credit as it deserves. The actors and actresses in "Ten Little Indians" have certainly shown that they are talented individuals, deserving of much appreciation.

Lisa Eichers

And these are the ten little Indian dolls which were all on the mantle before anyone died. As each person was killed, an Indian doll disappeared.

Here Philip Lombard (Justin Mog) questions Dr. Armstrong (Melia Arnold) as William Blore (Tony Brawner) looks on.

Vera Claythorne (Ghita Harris) reads her invitation to the remote island as Lawrence Wargrave (Sean Moran) and Philip Lombard (Justin Mog) listen carefully.

General Mackenzie (Kevin Lilly) and Philip Lombard (Justin Mog) seem bored as the stuffy Emily Brent (Lauren Seikaly) enters the scene.

Candi Marston (Bayn VanDoren) and Vera Claythorne (Ghita Harris) listen intently to William Blore (Tony Brawner) explanation.

Vera Claythorne (Ghita Harris) and Philip Lombard (Justin Mog) realize their mutual attraction to each other.

The cast consisted of: Sean Moran, Tony Brawner, Melia Arnold, John Vernier, Lauren Seikaly, Kevin Lilly, Ghita Harris, Gayle Boseley, and Justin Mog, missing: Jon Hennessee and Bayn VanDoren.

William Blore (Tony Brawner) accuses Fred Narracott (John Vernier) of being responsible for the set-up of all of the guests.

Emily Brent (Lauren Seikaly) looks disapprovingly at Vera Claythorne (Ghita Harris), whose morals she doesn't agree with.

Soaring Ahead At The Career Center

Basically, the Career Center is an extension of the courses offered at our high school. Their classes, however, take the students farther by giving them hands on experience in the field of their choice. It also allows them to blend new opportunities into the regular school day.

The students are transported to the Career Center for their class, which consists of usually two periods and are then returned to their home school for the remainder of the day. These courses are planned so they will not interfere with after school activities. Some classes that are available there are Art, Business, Photography, Marketing, Home Economics and even Hotel Management. At the Career Center you can even participate in the Gifted and Talented Programs. This excellent opportunity assists high school students in making decisions about their future plans in a career.

— Audrey Wright

Electricity student, Kevin Hannum tests the results of wiring a "room" in class at the Arlington Career Center.

Hector Castro assists in store inventory at a retail store at Ballston Common. The course called "Classroom on the Mall" is offered by the Arlington Career Center.

Mike Hutchinson builds a brick way in class at the center.

dy Rodriguez works on a silkscreen design in the Commercial Printing class.

son Musil makes an adjustment on a copy camera in the Commercial Printing class.

Auto Body student, Shawn Collins, prepares his car for painting in the painting booth at the Arlington Career Center.

Kim Tran, Hector Obregon and the instructor Pat Atalig, practice conducting transactions during Banking and Finance class.

"Coming Together to Give"

This year's blood drive, on Wednesday, January 30th, was a successful one. Approximately 70 pints of blood were taken by the Red Cross from students and teachers willing to give for a good cause.

Student Council president Adam Riggs says, "This year's drive was particularly successful. During this time of war, many students felt concerned and wanted to help in any way that they could. Donating blood gave them the opportunity to do so." With just a small prick of a needle and a few minutes of discomfort, a person can save a life. Because of the great number of students who wanted to help and the shortage of nurses, some had to wait for several hours. Some dedicated donors stayed after school as late as 3:30PM, in order to give.

Shauna Vick, who waited for three hours to give blood, says, "At first I was really scared. I'd never done it before, but I knew I would feel good about it afterwards. Although the long wait may have increased my anxiety, it helped to have my friends there to support me." After giving blood, many people enjoyed cookies and juice, while they relaxed before returning to class.

Giving blood is a scary experience for many people. It is refreshing to see that students are so enthusiastic about helping those in need.

— Lisa Eichers

Betsy Stevenson takes permission slips from students as they enter the Little Theatre, while Sergio Galvez relaxes before returning to class.

Junior Sandy Rowe and friend seem a little nervous as they await questioning by the Red Cross nurses.

Kellie Mallon rests her arm as she takes a sip from her juice. She seems relieved to have finished giving her pint.

One of the nurses from the Red Cross takes Cartina Hackley's blood pressure, a preparation for giving blood, as Latasha Bigsby looks on.

Mr. Hatch, one of the many teachers who gave blood, rests on "the table" as he wonders how long it will take to give a pint of blood.

Geiger has successfully finished "coaching" Laura through her blood donation. Laura holds her head up, as instructed by the nurse.

Crystal Miller has her blood pressure taken after waiting patiently for several hours.

Michael Koehl concentrates on the pattern on the ceiling as he waits for time to pass. Giving blood usually takes between five and ten minutes.

Anything Goes in the America

"All ashore that's going ashore!" The oceanliner America sailed off the W-L stage on April 18th, 19th, and 20th. The popular musical, "Anything Goes" by Cole Porter took everyone back to the 1930's, back to the age of gangsters, nightclub singers, evangelists, and anything else that went, afterall Anything Goes.

The action starts just about the ship about to sail off shore. Billy Crocker (Rob Waters), a run-down broker re-encounters his lost love Hope Harcourt (Betsy Stevenson). As he dreams of rekindling that love, he finds out Hope is already engaged to Sir Evelyn Oakleigh (Tony Brawner). Billy decides that he must get Hope back so he asks an old friend for help. That friend happens to be no other than Reno Sweeny (Lara Johnson), a famous nightclub singer and evangelist with four traveling angels. Billy hopes that Reno can seduce Evelyn and get the englishman out of his way.

As the love quarrel thickens, two gangsters have set foot on board. Moonface Martin (Peter Komoutseas), also known as Public Enemy #13 is trying to escape out of the country dressed up as a priest with the help of Bonnie (Artis Mooney), his go-along girl.

Together with the ship's crew and all the passengers. Anything Goes is a great combination of music, dance, love, and laughter. The musical ends showing everyone that in life or at least in the America . . . Anything Goes!

Eduardo Contreras

Mrs. Harcourt and her daughter Hope (Christine VanOrman and Betsy Stevenson) seem amused as the purser (Eduardo Contreras) tells them about the many luxuries aboard the ship.

Reno Sweeny (Lara Johnson) takes a moment to teach a new routine to her four angels (Jennifer Malloy, Danielle Lazure, Erika Schelble, and Lauren Seikaly).

The steward (Keith Kelso) looks over the sailors (Nash Gill and Tom Kochl) as they take care of the luggagees.

The celebrities of the ship pose for an article for Town and Country magazine. Standing: Bonnie (Artis Mooney), Reno (Lara Johnson), Hope (Betsy Stevenson), Mrs. Harcourt (Christine VanOrman) and Sitting: Moonface (Peter Komoutseas), Evelyn (Tony Brawner), Billy (Rob Waters), Whitney (Justin Mog).

Evangelist Reno Sweeny Comforts yet another sin like the drunkard (Jarret Baker).

Billy Crocker (Rob Waters), dressed up as an old lady gives advice about men to Hope (Betsy Stevenson).

Moonface Martin (Peter Komoutseas) tells Bonnie (Artis Mooney) how wonderful their lives will be after they have escaped out of the country.

Elisha J. Whitney (Justin Mog) is annoyed at the way Billy (Rob Waters) is taking care of his business.

On Top of the Ball

Senior year is supposed to be the best school year of our lives. Let's run down the average Seniors' activities to see why it's the "best year." First of all, like any other student an average Senior has the homework of seven periods. Added to this, already insurmountable workload, are the standardized tests. These include achievement tests, TOEFL, and the most feared of all of these, the SAT. And then if that wasn't enough here come the college applications. By the time you've filled out one or two of these applications, you can recite your race, social security number, and SAT scores in your sleep. But enough of the negatives, let's talk about the positive aspects. These positive aspects are what make this the "best year." One positive aspect is the knowledge that no student is older or more experienced than you. Another, and probably the biggest, positive aspect is the Senior Class Off Campus Lunch Privilege. Finally, we can go out to lunch without having to look over our shoulders or having to walk all the way to the 66 parking lot. And one final positive is the need for the Senior to exercise pranks on anything that is in this universe. Some of this year's pranks were: the traditional bust of George Washington and the picture of John Wayne. As well as the new innovative pranks such as the Freshmen Commons and the planetarium. In this section we mention the important events of Senior year, along with all the little tidbits that make Seniors ON TOP OF THE BALL.

A group of Seniors prepare for their next stressful class.

“Those that keep the ball rolling!”

The Senior class has made much progress over the past four years. We started out as four groups from H-B Woodlawn, Kenmore, Swanson and T.J. It took awhile but, after our first year we were united, the “Class of 1991.”

For the third year, Tricia Clark was the President of the class of 1991. She was assisted by Vice-President Bruce Hickey, Secretary Tracy Pilot, Treasurer Ken Deuel, and Senators Ginger Harvey, Brendan Holland, Michelle Pavitt and Jeremy Rinker. Peter Fitzgerald was once again the School Board Representative. The officers received much help and support from class advisors, Mrs. Woods and Mr. Rodger.

The year got off to a good start with the Senior Class President, Tricia Clark, discusses upcoming plans with Senior Class Advisor, Mrs. Woods.

seniors placing first in spirit, hall decorating and the float.

The Seniors were very busy kicking off the holiday season with the annual Holiday Bazaar. Linda Hong, Bazaar Chairman, said, “The Senior class did a great job working together and made the Bazaar a great success. With so many Seniors to help out, the job was made easier with special thanks to Mrs. Woods and Mr. Rodger.”

After several conflicts, the Senior Prom date was settled. The Prom will be held June 8, 1991 at the Capital Hilton.

Tricia Clark remarked, “The class has overcome many obstacles and has achieved every goal that they had set over the past four years.”

Weekends

What do Senior Generals do on the weekends? Different people have different ideas of fun. If there's a party, you are assured of finding at least half of W-L there! Of course there are also your classic movie-goers, bowler, travellers, and skiers. Senior Pat Tien says, "It doesn't really matter what I do on the weekends as long as I am out having fun with my friends and I don't get in trouble."

Football and Basketball games always attract a big crowd. Other people enjoy spending quality time with their boyfriends or girlfriends. Still others use their spare time to catch up on much-needed sleep. Many Seniors may even be spotted all around the country visiting future colleges. Applications take up a great deal of time on the weekend, too. Seniors, grudgingly, will attest to the fact that parents have been known to go as far as threatening restriction until all applications are complete!

— Shauna Vick

Adam Riggs shows that even Seniors revert back to their childhood days on the weekends.

A General victory has been the start of a great weekend for Kirsten Hillgaard.

Bruce Hickey and Kevin Ellis dedicate their Fridays to selling Penman Popcorn while Leona Cooper is happy controlling the finances.

Corey Mazer and Rob Lowry are caught playing video games at a friend's house.

Taking a break to inspect their progress, John Larson and Karen Stocks devoted many weekends to building the winning Senior float.

Candid Camera took Daro Lawrence by surprise as he was enjoying a warm weekend outside.

Does Jason Musil dress like this only during Spirit Week or does he on weekends, too?

While Craig Doheny is stumped by the trivia question, Tim Billings and Tim Bransford contemplate their next move.

Falling Off the Ball

Each year as the seniors approach the end of their thirteen long years of arduous schooling, they are stricken by the fatal slump. As soon as the deadlines for college applications are met, and sometimes sooner, the seniors begin to lose interest in school. Attendance slacks off, and when seniors do choose to attend school they are usually asleep or incoherent. As the second quarter ends and the end of the year approaches, seniors have a hard time staying on the ball! Eventually though, the seniors see the light, snap out of their slump, and finish the year strong. However, until then, they will slump as all seniors do.

Senior Enthusiasm

The class of 1991 has shown in their own special way, immense school spirit. Whether it be attending football and basketball games or just simply sporting a Generals letterman jacket proudly, the senior class managed to show spirit openly. This class whose "future is so bright we've gotta wear shades" out shined all at the ever enjoyable pep rallies.

Spirit did happen to get accidentally out of hand on some occasions, such as the Parking Lot ordeal, but what we broke, we fixed, proudly and cooperatively. This class worked hard together for four years, and together, this class is by far more radiant and gamely than any other that has walked the halls of Washington-Lee.

— Caroline Pons

Week of Memories

Homecoming 1990 was the most memorable for several reasons. As Seniors, the class can appreciate the hard work that goes into this special event. Our effort proved to be rewarding and couldn't have happened at a better time; Senior year. With four, make that three years of Homecoming floats, the seniors took an easy first, with Warp the Warriors. In addition, the class took another first in the hall decorating contest.

The Senior year brings the responsibility of organizing the Homecoming dance. A great job was done by Shauna Vick and Kerry Douma, who took on this responsibility and made the dance a big success.

The Senior attendants were Shauna Vick, Corey Mazer, Ginger Harvey, Elgin Moore, Tricia Clark, and Horace Willis. Corey Mazer and Ginger Harvey represented our school as our Homecoming King and Queen.

With all the dedication put into the Homecoming week, plus the Friday night football victory, the Senior class hope that it turned out to be a memorable and special Senior year Homecoming.

"Missing Out"

This year's Seniors were very unfortunate in "missing out" on a few W-L traditions. One of the more important ones being the painting of the pressbox. This process has always been a time-consuming job but a spirit building tradition. It was one of the many symbols that represented the Senior class. But the tradition that had been upheld for years at W-L was broken. But a sign was made to represent the class of '91, thanks to the hard work of Kyle Talbott, Pat Tien, and Imran Chaudhri. Senior girls also "missed out" on Powderpuff, which has always been an exciting sport looked forward to by many underclassmen. When Laura Smith was asked about what she thought about missing out on Powderpuff she said, "Well, I've never been a very good football player, but I think it would've been fun and we are unfortunate to have to miss out on such an important senior tradition. Well, despite a few disadvantages they faced, the Class of '91 came out on top.

Out To Lunch!

For three years the Class of '91 has waited to have the privilege to go off campus for lunch.

The hot spot for W-L Seniors was the old favorite "Two Chefs" on Wilson Blvd. Those who did not want to be with their classmates could be found at "Tippy's Tacos" also on Wilson Blvd. And the fast food favorites "Wendy's, Roy's and McDonald's" had several cars bearing the W-L parking permit, parked in their lots around lunch time. There were even some who went home to take a nap or catch some Laverne & Shirley reruns.

Senior Leona Cooper remarked, "I'm happy that I was finally able to go off campus for lunch. But forty minutes was not enough time to eat."

Several seniors felt that going off campus was not a privilege since so many underclassmen took advantage of it.

Spending Our Time

Since school gets out at 2:10 everyday, Seniors were left with about 16 hours to kill before they were forced to return the next day. Well, Seniors this year had many different options to keep them busy. When asked, "What are you doing after school today," many Seniors often replied by saying "I have top work," or "I've got practice," or else one of the more common responses, "I'm going home to sleep!" Some Seniors just ended up hanging out together, no matter where it was, to waste some time before having to go home and tackle all the homework assigned that day. The fact of the matter was, everyone lived for the weekends! Whatever way Seniors spent their time they always tried to have as much fun as possible. And they did, at least most of the time.

Tracy Pilot and Michelle Pavitt enjoy their last moments of hall decorating.

A group of seniors spend their afternoon hours playing video games at Tim Bransford's house.

Tim Bransford relaxes after school to relieve some senior stress.

Kevin Ellis, Justin McCrary, and Bruce Hickey find time for a laugh even while studying.

Eugenia Molina, Heather Nielson, and Bonnie Leib hang out after school together.

Rob Lowry gives his own personal salute to the Statue of Liberty.

90. High School Graduation
91. Beach Week Again!

Abdel Ougnou demonstrates that Graduation draws nearer "As the World Turns."

The Senior's misguided spirit resulted in a very brief, decorative parking lot.

Once Upon A Senior Wish

Everyone has a wish. Some wishes are simple and attainable like living a happy and full life. Others are farfetched and impossible to reach, such as living forever with Kirk Cameron's girlfriend or finding the perfect brown hair, dark-eyed, sensitive man.

Where most seniors are satisfied with a simple wish like getting into a good college, others, with a stronger sense of ambition, would wish to become a world class actress or architect. Senior Adam Riggs wishes he could be "young enough to experience all the pleasures of life and old enough to understand them." You will also find concerned seniors out there who would gladly make the world a better place.

It is surprising to discover how many seniors chose to wish for a happy marriage and a close-knit family. There are always the people who think they can get out of having just one wish by wishing for ten more wishes. But to find that one wish to true happiness would certainly be more meaningful than a million superficial wishes.

— Caroline Pons

Brian Darnell (Dirt) is wishing for summer.

Daro Lawrence is hoping the "senior float" wins.

Gayle Bosely looked shocked when asked what her future wish would be . . . an actress, of course!

Seniors: Too Young Or Too Old?

As Freshmen, we were too young to hang out with seniors or even dare to show up at a senior party. We were definitely too young to understand the many senior problems such as applications, class rank, and senior slump, or enjoy Senior privileges such as off-campus lunch. We were too young to be cocky, and too young to see Arnold Schwarzenegger movies, but being too young wasn't the only problem. We were too old to read Dr. Seuss (but too young to read Dr. Ruth), and too old to collect stickers.

As Seniors, however, we seemed to be old enough to do almost anything after four years of an intense learning environment. We were old enough to finally drive and no longer needed mom (or dad) to chauffeur. Our school ID's were readily available upon request for rated R movies.

Seniors relaxed in any way they felt appropriate, either by sitting around blowing bubbles or sleeping in class. By their fourth year in high school, a senior could almost feel too old to even be there.

As Seniors, we felt obligated to set an example of mature, young adults to the underclassmen and, therefore, were too old to do many crazy antics that a freshman would have thought was "cool".

Despite the many things we were "too old" to do, Seniors were never too old to go trick-or-treating, go to birthday parties, or crash at someone's house. Seniors were never too old to take after-school naps, collect comic books, or share a joke or two among friends. Class of '91 never failed to prove that they were a class that could have a wild time together and still maintain responsibility.

— by Caroline Pons

Tracy Pilot and Leona Cooper all smiles because one of their wishes has already been granted: College Acceptance.

Rob Lowry discovers he is too old to be fooling around with explosive chemicals in science class.

Laura Smith proves that Seniors are obviously not too old to blow bubbles in school.

Rolling Out!

Who from the Class of '91 could forget their first day of high school? That was before schedules were mailed two weeks before classes started. All Seniors had locators and maps out, trying to find their way around. Never believing that they could get around W-L without a map.

They came from four different intermediate schools. Seniors merged into one and became united as the Class of '91 . . .

The Seniors are a class of many firsts. The first class not to have a pressbox to paint and the first class not to have a Powderpuff team. However, they have remained strong. And as their banner at the Homecoming pep rally read, "Our future is so bright we need to wear shades"!

Four years ago it seemed like it would take forever to be Seniors. Now it is hard to believe that High School is over and they are ROLLING OUT of Washington-Lee!!

Q: What is your most memorable experience at W-L?
 A: Just going here was a beautiful experience.
 Q: In say . . . about 10 yrs. what do you expect to be doing?
 A: I'll be touring the world playing the blues with "Dragonfly."
 — What exactly is "Dragonfly?"
 — The Dragonfly is all about love. Love for yourself and for your brothers and sisters of this world. It's about the realization that everyone is beautiful regardless of color, class, or creed.
 Q: What was your favorite year and why?

Bob Rumpler

A: Senior year, definitely, because I had my life in total perspective and my classes were easy.
 Q: What is your favorite thing to do on the weekend?
 A: Hangout at Kilimanjaro's in town, and eat chicken wings. They're the best!
 Q: What will you miss most about W-L when you graduate?
 A: I'll miss all my teachers and all the administrators, since they all do their jobs so well.
 Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word.
 A: FULFILLING.

Natalia Gabrea

Q: What is your most memorable experience at W-L?
 A: Since I haven't been here too long, everyday is a great experience. But if I had to choose one thing it would be the Senior Cruise last year. It was so much fun.
 Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?
 A: My first day at school, when I first walked into Mrs. Bassler's class I knocked over a desk and everyone in the class stared and laughed at me. I was so embarrassed.
 Q: What was your favorite year at W-L, and why?
 A: Definitely senior year because I knew more people and I went out a lot more.
 Q: What is your favorite thing to do on the weekend?
 A: I guess just go to the movies or go dancing.
 Q: What will you miss most about W-L when you graduate?
 A: Well, nothing in particular. My friends, the good times, and just everything about being in high school!
 Q: Describe your years at W-L in one word.
 A: INTERESTING.

Q: What is your most memorable experience at W-L?
 A: The one thing I'll never forget were all those crazy Ska-Tah shows at HB my junior year. I'll always remember being surrounded by a bunch of hot, sweaty teenagers jumping up and down and jostling each other just for a good view of Marc Coudert.
 Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?
 A: I guess it would have to be freshman year when I killed Mrs. Spicer's fish. But I don't want to get into that.
 Q: What was your favorite year and why?
 A: My Junior year because of all the late night study groups and all the parties there were and, of course, that's when I met Betsy!
 Q: What will you miss most when you graduate?
 A: The late night study parties, again, for Mr Wyatt's tests junior year, with Matt, Craig, and Panos.
 Q: What is your favorite thing to do on the weekend?
 A: Hanging out with my friends and going to shows. You know, all that male bonding stuff.
 Q: In say . . . about ten years, what do you expect to be doing?
 A: Well, I'll probably be married and having kids. And I'll either be playing in a band or shaping National Policy.
 Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word.
 A: You know for someone who got 1400 on their SAT's, CRAZY is the only word I can think of.

Bruce Hickey

Karin Pettit

- Q: What is your most memorable experience at W-L?
 A: The time we went swimming at Buckingham pool at 2 a.m.
- Q: What was your most embarrassing moment at W-L?
 A: At the winter pep rally senior year I had to make a basket and it was an airball.
- Q: In ten years, what do you expect to be doing?
 A: Being a beach bum with Cyril.
- Q: What was your favorite year and why?
 A: Senior year because I could get away with murder.
- Q: What is your favorite weekend activity?
 A: DRIVING FAST!
- Q: Describe your years at W-L in one word.
 A: SHORT

Q: What will you miss most about high school when you graduate?

A: When you're in high school, there's a feeling of security, of not really having to worry about the future. You always have a place to go, and though the routine may become somewhat dumb, at some points, there's a certain safety in the routine. I know I'll miss the security of having a set schedule and a place to go.

Q: What was your favorite year and why?
 A: So far, I'm really diggin' senior year— The power, the respect, the legal off campus lunch pass are overwhelming, except for one thing: These college application things are way too stressful and time consuming. Junior year, though, was my personal fav, even though work wise it was by far the most difficult. But you know what they say: "Work hard, play hard." And that we did. Overall, it was just an incredibly busy, helter skelter, crazy go party go wild kinda year and I loved every super-intense minute of it.

Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word:
 A: Well, gee, there are so many things I'd like to call it, but . . . if I must choose one, it's gotta be "multi-" W-L is so diverse, multi-cultural, multi-lingual, multi-levelled, multi-colored, etc. It offers a multi-faceted education and a multi-nutritional lunch. Who could ask for anything more?

Matt Seidman

- Q: What is your most memorable experience at W-L?
 A: Our late night trips to Roosevelt Island with Panos Craig, Karin, and Lisa.
- Q: What is your most embarrassing moment at W-L?
 A: It was Freshmen year in Mr. Schelstrate's World History class, and I asked "What's WWI?"
- Q: In ten years what do you expect to be doing?
 A: Having fifty kids and making a midget basketball team with Corey.

Laura Smith

- Q: What was your favorite year and why?
 A: Senior year because I knew almost everyone already and coming to school was more fun and less work.
- Q: What is your favorite thing to do on weekends?
 A: Committing minor infractions of the law.
- Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word.
 A: OVER

College Applications

This was the year the class of '91 had to deal with college applications, most of which included essays. Essay writing for most people was an almost impossible task. It involved staying up past midnight almost every night, and staying home on week-ends. Students dealt with applications morning, noon and night, especially in the few weeks left before the deadline. Some seniors gave their opinion on college applications:

"The thing I really despised about the whole thing was typing them" — Kit Zimmer "The killers were, of course, the essays!" — Sdenka Rico "Most essays don't even ask you questions that are even remotely relevant . . ." — Adrian Ayers

Most seniors advised that you should start working on the essay, not procrastinate until the deadline, and then fill out the rest of the application later.

Applications were turned in on time, and then came either acceptance or rejection letters. A joyous or upsetting time for all. Students find out who got into which college, and they decide where to go.

All in all, due to hard work and determination, applications and essays were perfect and turned in on time, so seniors could now sit back and relax until graduation.

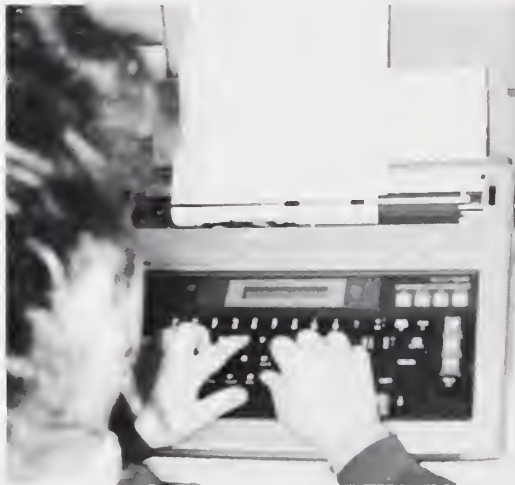

— Danielle Crocet

Dribbling Through

In your Junior year you go through a mixed-up period. On the positive side you're gaining independence from your parents, you're starting to drive, and your overall social life is improving. But then you hit the negatives. The biggest one being the dumping of an overwhelming amount of homework from what seems like every teacher you've ever had. And then another big negative, the dreaded PSAT's, and SAT's. But through all this, you end up having a pretty good time. In this section we will take you through many important events. Some of these being Spirit Week and Homecoming. The Yearbook Staff hopes that when you look back at your Junior year you can remember more of the positives than the negatives. But if you can't just try to remember that the main purpose of Junior year is just to DRIBBLE THROUGH.

“A Class on the Ball”

The 1990-91 class officers were President — Justin Mog, Vice-President — Morgan Courbois, Secretary — Maurice Angelo Cruz, Treasurer — Matt Zais, School Board Representative — Eduardo Contreras and Senators — Mike Callahan, Kelly Munly, Betsy Stevenson and Audrey Wright.

Much credit also must be given to the Junior Class Sponsors Mrs. Baker and Ms. Meier. Without their support and advice, the Junior Class could not have been as successful.

The Junior class had many fantastic activities throughout the year. They started out the year with a car wash during the summer and one in September raising a large amount of money. They also had spirit-filled dances, flower and candy sales, and other activities which were just as successful as the car washes. Along with the dedicated officers, the Junior class student body was very interested and enthusiastic in helping out at these activities.

Juniors Shine During Homecoming Week

The Class of 1992 was in high spirits all week long. They were all psyched up for the Homecoming activities against the Wakefield Warriors. The Juniors' spirit helped the Generals finally win their first Homecoming game in twenty-one years. The Generals beat the Warriors 14-6.

This year's Homecoming Attendants were Melia Arnold escorted by Omar Shorter and Kelly Munly escorted by William Turk.

The Juniors' hard work paid off when the class won second place in the float competition.

The atmosphere of the Homecoming Dance was an exciting climax to a great victory. The band "Finale" played great music all night, which encouraged the Juniors to dance the night away. This year the Juniors were enthused about Homecoming and were eager to help out in all the Homecoming events.

In the eyes of the Juniors, the class of 1992 was the real winner at Homecoming 1990!

Juniors Shoot For The Top

Linh Tennes and Naomi Wiersma show their spirit at a football game.

The Junior year is said to be one of the toughest and most critical years that one must face during their high school career. Classes are harder and it takes more effort and concentration to complete homework. Taking the P.S.A.T. and the S.A.T. are high on the list of things to do for any Junior who wants to get into a good college. Although the pressure was extreme sometimes and made them feel really down, the pressure never knocked them out. The Juniors still managed to go to football games, dances, parties, and all sorts of other things that helped them to hang in there for another year. Junior year may be one of the most challenging years of their high school career, but it is also one of the best!

Bouncing By

Like the average Freshman, the average Sophomore has a great deal of first experiences in their lives. Because this is your second year, you get the opportunity of seeing the Freshmen wander aimlessly looking for their classes. Then, you also get the thrill of knowing where everyone of those rooms, that the freshmen are looking for, are. Also, this year many people take Driver's Education, and then begin to drive. By Sophomore year you have received your first high school reputation. With this new reputation, if it's the right kind, you begin to meet upperclassmen. And because you know these upperclassmen and have your drivers' license your social life improves. With this new social life, comes a lot of new experiences. The first of these is your first party. This party is both a positive and a negative. It's a positive because you're there and you're being seen which improves your reputation. But on the negative side, being known can add to peer pressure. But then comes the realization that because of this new social life, your expenses are now more than your income. So, to remedy this situation you must get a job. But because of this job you get more money, which means you go to more parties, which in turn boosts your reputation. With both the positives and negatives, you wander through your Sophomore year and continue to BOUNCE BY.

Student Leaders

The Sophomore class officers had a very successful year. Their main goal was to include everybody in all the activities, which they accomplished. Together with the rest of their class, the officers had a lot of fun and raised lots of money. Some of the fund raisers included car washes, candy sales, raffles, and dances. President Sarah Street said, "We had a very successful year and I'm really glad I was able to lead the Sophomore Class in their endeavors." Vice-President Leslie Earle said, "I'm very proud of the things that we accomplished this year, and I hope we will be able to do the same next year." All of the officers would like to thank the rest of the Sophomore class for all of their help and participation. They couldn't have done it without you!!!

“I Need Your Love.”

The 1990-91 Homecoming proved to be a huge success with the Sophomore class. We attacked all of our activities with an unlimited amount of enthusiasm. Many of the sophomores showed their spirit by participating in Spirit Week, hall decorating and the designing of the Homecoming float.

This year the class of '93 was able to tie for first place with the seniors in the hall decorating contest. The theme was “Under the Sea In '93.” The theme for the Homecoming Float was “Wack The Warriors” and we came in third place in the float competition. Everyone participated in making the Sophomore class one of the most spirited.

“I Need Your Love” was the theme for the Homecoming dance. Many of the Sophomores were there to show off their style and elegance that night. Among these students were the Sophomore Homecoming attendants who were: Melanie Asp, Rey Deskins, Shiella Barber and Maurice Terry.

All in all the 1990 Homecoming was a night every Sophomore would remember.

Sophomore Spirit

Many of the Sophomores participated in the Traditional Spirit Week this year. The "wackiest" day was "Blast From The Past" day where we had the hippiest hippies and the boppiest boppers. And, of course, the "Blue and Gray" day had the largest turnout. Also, everyone had fun dressing up as twins on Twin Day. Everyone was dressed up in style on Dress Up Day, and many were in oblivion in black and white on "Oblivion Day." It was obvious that the Sophomore class was running high with enthusiasm and spirit.

One More Step

Yes, we the class of '93, have finally taken one step toward the top. We are no longer the lowest on the totem pole. However, we are neither looked up to or as respected as the Junior or Senior Classes. No longer are we embarrassed or insecure about being loud or spirited or just plain being ourselves. We are doing the "wild and crazy" things that as Freshmen we thought we would never do. More and more we are getting caught up and involved in all the fun and excitement of being a Sophomore!!

Getting on the Ball

This is the beginning of a wonderful experience in your life, high school. For an average Freshman this is an exciting time. It's exciting because the end of school life is within sight of you. With this incentive comes the realization that after this year there are three more long years left. But still an average Freshman perseveres and even thrives. During this year, you do many things for the first time, some positive and some negative. A couple positives are your first football game and your first Homecoming. Both of these activities hold memories that you'll remember forever. But then the negatives come. The first day of school you're met by what the students call a cruel joke, but what the administration calls your first high school lunch. Then you come in one day and find out that a prank has been perpetrated on your commons. But you don't mind, because you're just catching the start of a social life. You begin to go out with your new friends to new places to do new things. But through it all the average Freshman endures and continues to Get on the Ball.

Freshmen, Getting on the Ball

This year got off to a strong start. After electing officers, the Freshmen began to form a unified class early and got organized.

Many of the Freshmen found W-L a great place to become involved in extracurricular activities. This helped them to get involved and to meet new people. The first year of high school can sometimes be the hardest year for anyone, but the Freshmen handled it well, by taking on new challenges, keeping up grades and meeting new friends.

First Impressions

As the Freshmen entered W-L for the first day of high school, many were scared, or at the very least, a little nervous. High school lay ahead; they had been told about it all of their lives, and they were finally here. Washington-Lee is a big place and for those Freshmen who had never been inside the school before, it seemed at least three times larger than it actually was. As the halls blurred together in a maze, familiar faces appeared through all the big upperclassmen. Old friends were reunited and new friends were made, and all the confusion was lessened. And soon, the Frosh class settled into a busy life at W-L.

Freshman Class Officers

The Freshman class officers are president Lauren Seikaly, vice president Khoan Thai, Secretary Mira Signer, treasurer Lisa Penning, and the senators are Alexandra George, Kerry Hurt, and Becky Signer. President Lauren Seikaly comments that we've had a great year. "We have a lot of spirit and a lot of potential. I think we're really going to go far."

The Freshman also participated in many activities such as pep rallies, Spirit Week, Homecoming, and a variety of fund raisers. These fund raisers include a car wash, working and helping at the Hiliday Bazaar and a number of candy sales.

Spirit Week '90

Spirit week is always a great idea to psyche everyone up for the upcoming football game at the end of the week. All through Spirit Week 1990, the class of 1994 went out and showed their spirit. The Freshmen participated in Twin Day (Monday), Blast From the Past Day (Tuesday), Dress Up Day (Wednesday), Black and White Day (Thursday) and Blue and Gray Day (Friday).

The Freshmen placed second in the Hall Decorating contest with the theme of A street with several signs and a banner that said "WARRIORS, GET LOST." They placed fourth in the float contest with the theme of "Can't Touch This."

The Freshmen showed their spirit by participating in the Pep Rally and coming out to support the football team at the Homecoming Game.

HOMEcomings, A New Experience

Homecoming was a new experience for most Freshmen this year and they seemed to love it!

They showed their spirit by decorating the Freshmen Commons, dressing up for Spirit Week and cheering at the Homecoming Game.

The attendents representing their class were Michael Morgan, Diana Kittleman, Manetho Baker, and Teddy Key. Many Freshmen attended the Homecoming Dance the night after the game to show that they too knew how to have fun. Theme of the dance was "I need your love," from the song Unchanged Melody.

The spirit of the Freshmen class showed much enthusiasm. They placed second in the Hall Decorating and fourth in the Float Contest with their theme, "Can't Touch This!"

All in all Homecoming 1990 was both a fun and memorable weekend.

Taking Roll

As you are driving to school, you suddenly realize that you left your students' graded tests at the breakfast table. Oh well, you sigh. Students are always complaining about getting those returned before they graduate. You finally arrive at the crack of dawn. You get your morning cup of coffee and proceed to your room where you wait for the two students coming in early to make up a test.

Afterwards, you have your first class. Half of the students are asleep, Is it me you wonder. Couldn't be. You slap a ruler next to their faces and scold them. Finally, a break. Your planning period has finally come. You prepare for your next lesson and then, class again. All goes well and you leave, satisfied knowing that you had at least taught them that patience is a virtue. I've got to remember to bring those test papers tomorrow, you say. Lunch time. You hang out in the lounge with the other teachers and relax from the difficult morning you've had.

You now must return to your first afternoon class. Your students are either too noisy or there are still others who believe they wouldn't be able to survive without an after lunch nap. Don't these kids get enough sleep at home?

During your second planning period, you get a few more papers graded. A favorite student comes in and asks for a recommendation for college. As your planning period nears its end, you suddenly remember . . . Oh no! Not seventh period! They are your ultimate nightmare. As they arrive, one by one, you notice that only seven of them are tardy. A new record! This is going to be a good day. Your last class is finally over. You must now stay after to assist the students coming in for help. Little does anyone realize that being a teacher means more than just TAKING ROLL.

— Han Hong

Mr. Rodger, an involved teacher at W-L participates in many sporting events, including football.

Administration

Dear Seniors,

It has been a great year for you and that is the way it should be. When you are a senior in high school the world is your oyster. You think there is nothing you cannot do and that you are immortal. You are idealistic and love life. That too, is as it should be.

I hope these beliefs continue to dominate your thinking and being as graduation from high school is really a beginning, not an ending. Your leadership will be required to take us into the 21st century. Much will be expected from you and you can and must deliver. The future of this nation and our way of life will depend of many of the decisions that you make.

This book will bring back many great memories to you and will serve to remind you of your idealism and beliefs.

Best of luck to all of you.

Thank Goodness For Guidance

The Guidance Department continued to provide the students of Washington-Lee with a static source of support this year. The 1990-91 school year brought the addition of guidance counselor Kpackpundo Ezeze, and secretary Renee Lyles. Ezeze and Lyles, along with the staff of counselors, had their work cut out for them. Beginning with the first day of school, students lined up with problems. The counselors handled each dilemma, juggling schedules and making compromises. As the year progressed, they helped to begin the college quest. From Freshmen to Seniors, the guidance counselors had a mission for everyone. PSAT's, SAT's, AP Exam's, recommendations, and scholarships— Guidance did it all. The counselors tracked everyone to make sure that they were on the path to higher education. Seniors needed the most assistance with class ranks, mid-year reports, and college visitations. The counselors worked hard to make certain that everyone was on the ball.

Cafeteria

The Cafeteria staff, under the direction of Kay Calandra, continued its essential service providing Washington-Lee with lunch each day. The staff diligently prepared several choices of hot meals twice daily. The ethnic diversity of W-L was not only reflected in the makeup of the Cafeteria staff, but also in their menu. The menu included such ethnic foods as the gyro, the eggroll, the burrito, and the bagel with cream cheese.

Faculty Spirit

This year the faculty at Washington-Lee proved that they had just as much spirit as the students did. The teachers showed off their W-L sweaters every Friday and helped to build school pride. Peggy Jeens and Ron Revere led the way in the fall by selling sweatshirts sporting the W-L Generals' logo. The teachers showed their spirit by attending football games, buying Penman popcorn, and by helping the students in their spare time. Chris Rodger, and Bob

Armstrong even went so far as to donate two Saturday mornings to help repave the parking lot. Class sponsors, coaches, and club sponsors from the faculty worked hard all year long supporting the students in their endeavors. The teachers and administration put in long hours to ensure a great Prom, to produce competitive teams, and to show the students of Washington-Lee how much they cared about them.

Custodians

The Custodial staff, headed by Debbie Wooten, kept Washington-Lee in top form this year. The staff was continuously working in its efforts to maintain the cleanliness and operation of W-L. The custodians' ranks were briefly augmented in the fall by 45 Seniors who helped out by repaving the student parking lot. The staff was kept busy all year with the additional improvements that were made to the school.

Having A Ball

After school you find that you would love to go home and take a nap, but, alas, you must maintain a good high school record. Thus, the need for extra-curricular activities and honor societies is high. After school, you sometimes find that not only must you go to one club meeting, but that it just so happens that three clubs of which you are a member have a meeting after school. Why, you ask, do all these clubs schedule meetings on the same day? You realize, however, that it "looks good" on college applications and all the trouble is worth it. In fact, you find that you actually have fun attending these meetings. You sign up for projects, further occupying your time doing community service and volunteer work to further your knowledge of the various activities. The environmentalists work at improving a stream, DARE students took trips during school hours to speak with younger elementary level children, and the Madrigals and choir spread their music all around the metropolitan area. In the end, though, you find that everything was worthwhile and you know you were always HAVING A BALL!

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club, sponsored by Mrs. Grillo, Mr. Contreras, Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Celusniak, and Mrs. Mangan, has had a very successful year at W-L. The club sponsored a Miss/Mr. International contest in The Fall. The winners were Natalia Gabrea and Dave Wharwood. The International Club had many fund raisers this year, such as candy sales, a food booth at the Christmas Bazaar, and a food sale for teachers on teacher work days. The officers this year were — president — Kidist Shoamare, vice-president — Kamrun Arif, secretary — Tehera Lakhani, and treasurer — Nusrat Khan.

Pan American Club

The Pan American Club has few active members but the regular members enjoy a strong bond, for they all have one special thing in common — their ethnic heritage. All members have South American heritage and are united in this club. The Pan American Club was sponsored by Mrs. Frankenfeld and headed by president Jasmy Villatoro.

BIKE CLUB

The W-L Bike Club had only a few active members this year, yet enjoyed a very successful season. They have taken various trips ranging in distance from twenty to forty miles. The club has traveled to places such as Mt. Vernon, Vienna, Great Falls, and Harper's Ferry. The officers of the 1990-'91 bike club were: president — Justin Mog, vice-president — Naomi Wiersma, treasurer — Kevin Jones, and secretary — Lee Holland. The sponsor was Mr. Schelstrate. Justin Mog says of the club, "The Bike Club has provided an opportunity for students interested in cycling who otherwise wouldn't be included in the W-L sports program. The club is also interested in promoting all aspects of cycling including bike commuting and bike activism."

CHESS CLUB

Founded in 1984, the W-L Chess Club has been placing in Regional and State Championships, despite its small size, from the beginning. The club is affiliated with the United States Chess Federation, and participates in many tournaments between schools, as well as having a school championship game. The president is Mark Waters.

ENVIRONMENTAL CLUB

This is the first year W-L is privileged enough to have an Environmental Club. They got off to a great start! The club's main goal is to promote the importance of recycling and preserving the earth's natural resources. They have promoted cycling or car pooling to school and recycling newspapers, glass, aluminum and plastic at school and home. The club placed an empty box in every classroom in order to recycle white paper. The club stresses environmental education which is new at W-L. They have taken a few nature explorations around the area such as one of the new beaver dams in Arlington and Woodlawn Park where the club "adopted a stream." The club maintained, landscaped and tested the waters of their new stream.

The club also assembled compost bins and sold them as a fund raiser. Other projects included painting messages on sewer covers in Arlington, planting trees on Veteran's Day, and helping out at recycling centers.

The officers of the environmental club are President: Mike Signer, Vice-President: Matt Seidman, Treasurer: Justin McCrary, and Secretary: Linda Hong. Their sponsor is Mr. Rodger.

"Think globally act locally in all of the Environmental Club endeavors we are trying to do just that," says Mike Signer.

The Art, photo, and drama club at W-L is a unique opportunity for students to develop experience in their chosen medium of expression. Young actors may discuss ideas for productions, and those interested in photography and art have the opportunity to work on and critique projects together in an open studio during lunch. Club president Jeremy Nelson welcomed anyone interested in joining the club and having a ball developing their artistic talent.

S.A.D.D.

S.A.D.D. is a club that encouraged students to avoid driving while under the influences of alcohol even though peer pressure is so strong throughout their high school years. The S.A.D.D. Club has done several activities this year that have promoted the slogan "Don't Drink and Drive." Each year around Christmas S.A.D.D. members tie red ribbons on the cars in the school parking lot to remind the students to have a safe holiday season. At W-L's Christmas Bazaar the S.A.D.D. Club gave out pens, ribbons, bumper stickers and several other items reminding people not to "Drink and Drive."

For prom, the S.A.D.D. Club gave emergency cards to the local florists so they could distribute them with corsages. These cards contained telephone numbers that allowed the students to receive a safe ride home if necessary.

Hopefully, the efforts of the club would teach students that drinking and driving do not mix.

DRUG ABUSE RESISTANCE EDUCATION

DARE is a preventive program that provides information about alcohol and drugs and how to resist peer pressure to young children in elementary schools. In order to become a peer counselor, W-L students must first go through three training classes. W-L peer counselors visit several elementary schools in Arlington to give the students a chance to talk about their fears such as peer pressure, drugs, and alcohol to someone closer to their age. Carol Hawkins, the sponsor of this club, feels that children involved in the DARE program are not as scared about high school when they can discuss their feelings freely with others.

FIELD HOCKEY

Girls' Field Hockey appeared at Washington-Lee for the first time this year. The whole team was enthusiastic to play. They had a promising season. They had two successful wins against Wakefield and Yorktown. They also tied another game to Yorktown and were defeated by Wakefield once. Their defense and offense were both strong and the team performed as a whole. The two captains were Sugar Strawn and

Sarah Kramer and Su-Pei Jou was their goalie. The team's coach, Tom Chisnell, was very supportive throughout the season and felt they did a great job for being the first field hockey team at W-L.

"I think we did excellently for our first year. Tom Chisnell was a great coach," says Sugar Strawn.

Computer Club

The 1990-91 Computer Club consists of ten people. They are working to accomplish many things this school year. One of these things is raising enough money to start an electronic bulletin board system.

Why raise money, you ask? It is really rather simple. It costs a large amount of money for materials, the most expensive being a hard disk.

The members of the Computer Club are very dedicated and determined to succeed in this project. Their sponsor, Mr. Uveges, works hard with this club. They are all very hopeful to raise the funds they need.

Drama Club

The Washington-Lee Drama Club is open to anyone who has an interest in theatre. A person does not particularly have to act, they can also be in the crew, or just get "a feel" the theatre. As Mrs. Filpi, the sponsor, put it "the members are often seen behind the scenes".

This year the drama club has done many things including attending the opera Arthur and the Broadway play Les Miserables.

Thespians

Although very similar to the drama club, there are some differences in the Thespians club. The members of the Thespian club have a direct experience in the theatre, unlike many in drama. They have all participated in the plays in one form or another. Also, they practice and work hard all year long on future productions.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is a nationwide honor program for high school journalists. The members are known for their ability to produce creative writing. This is an important factor in becoming a member of Quill and Scroll.

Unlike most other clubs, Quill and Scroll does not have regularly scheduled meetings or fundraisers simply because it is a type of honor society. It is, or would be, a great honor to become a member of this organization.

The Welcome To W-L Club is devoted to helping new students feel welcome at Washington-Lee High School. The club members who have gone to W-L longer show the newcomers around the school. Also, they tell them about the various clubs and organizations they can join. All of this is done on the members own time.

The club has done many things, not only for the new students but also for their parents. For example, they had a table at Back-to-School-Night so they could talk to the parents of new students.

This club meets every third Thursday of each month with the sponsor, Mrs. Lopez. At the meetings they discuss upcoming events and progress of new students.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club is an organization that is associated with Kiwanis International. This club's main purpose is to serve the community. Their officers were president — Bonnie Leib, vice-president — Naomi Wiersma, secretary — Anh Bui, treasurer — D'harti Desai, historian — Justin Mog, Kiwanis representative — Eugenia Molina, and press secretary — Danielle Crucet. Besides having two sponsors here at W-L, Ms. Leeb and Ms. Mason, the club is also sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

Both the number of activities and the size of the Key club has grown in 1990. The Key club recycles aluminum cans. On a weekly basis the members donate the cans to the Fire Dept. The money that the Fire Dept.

collects will go towards children who have been burnt as a result of fires. Each month the Key club visits Camelot Hall, a nursing home. "The residents always welcome visitors and are always willing to offer a bit of worldly advice," says Mike Gallan.

The first Tuesday and third Monday of each month the Key club members prepare over three hundred sandwiches. In the evening they distribute these sandwiches to low income families around the Arlington community. Besides recycling, visiting the elderly and preparing food for the needy, the Key club also volunteers at Back to School Night, the Kiwanis' oyster roast and at the Salvation Army.

BAND

The Washington-Lee Marching Band had a very successful year. They worked extremely hard and were rewarded often with the high ratings they received at the various competitions they participated in. The band played a big role in school spirit because of their numerous performances. They played in the mornings before home football games, at the football games, at the basketball games, at assemblies, and in many competitions. Members dedicated many hours to long rehearsals, striving for perfection in their music. The band deserved much recognition and many thanks for the effort they put forth.

Choir

The 1990-1991 Choir was directed by Dave Greennagel. The choir is an experienced singing group that requires a tryout to join. The Choir performed at the Homecoming football game, at the Thanksgiving assembly, and representatives sang the "National Anthem" at each home basketball game. The Choir sold cheesecakes to raise money for a trip. The section leaders were Artis Mooney and Danielle Lazure. Next year some Choir members will be singing as Madrigals.

Chorus

The Chorus class this year was filled with many talented singers. In Chorus, the students learned the basics of singing and were taught a wide variety of songs. This class was considered by many to be a challenging way to receive a fine arts credit. The Director of the Chorus was Dave Greennagel who in his first year as Musical Director, directed the Choir and Madrigals as well.

Madrigals

The prestigious 1990-1991 Madrigals performed at many school assemblies and functions outside of school as well. The Madrigal leaders' consisted of Lisa Kearny as President, Gayle Bosly as a student director, Leona Cooper was the Secretary/Treasurer and Ginger Harvey as the Historian. The group of 18 members had 5 Juniors. Throughout the year the Mads have done fundraising to cover various expenses during the year. The 5 different voice ranges were Sup. 1, Sup. 2, Alto, Bass, and Tenor. The new Director this year was Dave Greennagel. The Washington-Lee Madrigals consisted of the best singers our school has to offer.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club was designed for students with or interested in German heritage. The club meets about once a week to discuss fund raising and fun activities. The sponsor of the German Club is Frau Butt. The officers are: Co-presidents — Kerry Douma and Dave Wharwood, secretary — Josephine Lamont, treasurer — Justin Mog, and public relations coordinator — Ron Northrop. This year, the German Club celebrated German Heritage Week, attended the Virginia Organization of German Students convention, had a table at the Christmas Bazaar, and took a trip to Busch Gardens. There are approximately twenty members in the German Club this year.

AFRICAN CHORAL ENSEMBLE

The African Choral Ensemble is a singing group for the Afro-American students at W-L. The group is sponsored by Mrs. Spicer and directed by Eric Green, a music teacher at Williamsburg Middle School. The group's musical emphasis is on gospel. They often performed at churches in the area. The ensemble also performed at our Black History Month Assembly in February.

The African Awareness Society was created for the purpose of banding together students to help educate them of the achievements made by African-Americans. People of this ethnical group have enriched our cultural, scientific, and political world a great deal. For example, Martin Luther King, Jr., Nelson Mandela, George Washington Carver, Louis Armstrong, and many others have helped to improve society. The society recognizes these people and helps to promote awareness of their contributions. Mrs. Spicer is the sponsor again this year. The officers are: president — Elgin Moore, vice-president — Nataki Green and Caryn Faltz, secretary — Rose Wright, treasurer — Lamont Brittain, parliamentarian — Vanisha Davis, and chaplain — Flora Weeks.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club had yet another successful year here at Washington-Lee. The club, sponsored by Mr. Hadiji, geared itself more towards cultural enrichment than towards fund raising this year. They participated in activities such as singing French songs during Foreign Language Week, sponsoring a cheese tasting event and having a table at the Christmas Bazaar. The officers of the French Club this year were: president — Shauna Vick, vice-president — Linda Hong, secretary — Caroline Pons, treasurer — Barbara Parella, and press secretary — Michelle Pavitt.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society at W-L was founded on academic, as well as extracurricular achievements. It is based on the principles of a student's leadership, character, and a willingness to perform service to the community. To be nominated for acceptance into the Society, one must write an autobiographical paper, receive teacher recommendations, maintain a grade point average of at least 4.5, and be involved in many extracurricular activities. Once they become members, students serve at least ten hours of community service during the school year.

This year the National Honor Society helped out at Martha's Table, a homeless shelter in D.C., and also spent a day with some homeless children, showing them the sights of the city and generally "having a ball."

This year's officers are President Bruce Hickey, Vice President Bonnie Leib, Treasurer Ken Deuel, and Secretary Linda Hong.

SOCIAL STUDIES HONOR SOCIETY

The Social Studies Honor Society recognized those outstanding students in the social studies area. Even though the Society meets rarely during the year, many students are involved. Members maintain the required minimum grade point average of 4.5 in their social studies classes, and have an overall grade point average of at least 3.5. This year's induction ceremony took place on November 12, 1990, in an office building in Washington, D.C.

DECA

The Distributive Education Clubs of America commonly known as DECA is an integral part of the Marketing Education Classroom. The goals of the organization are to develop leadership skills promote civic consciousness, help students to gain social skills and to provide opportunities for students to learn more about the vocation of marketing. DECA has many competitive activities at the District, State, and National levels. The organization hopes to further develop the skills necessary for a successful career in marketing or a marketing related field.

DEBATE

The Washington-Lee Debate Team has enjoyed yet another strong season. Debate, the only year-round sport at W-L, requires commitment and dedication from debaters. This year W-L was lucky enough to have a large number of new debaters participate with a high degree of success. Mike Signer and Justin McCrary, varsity co-captains, took first place at a varsity tournament. Freshman Jade Hoai also took first place in a junior varsity competition at George Mason's Roger Reeder Debate Tournament. Also, W-L took the Potomac District Championship for the third straight year.

The topic for this year was, "The U.S. Government should significantly increase space exploration." In debate there is an affirmative and a negative team who debate within a structure of speeches and cross-examinations. The winner is determined by a single judge.

Most of W-L's returning debaters, commonly referred to as the "Thugs", attended the George Mason Debate Institute to research this year's topic.

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) — Phi Beta Lambda (PBL), a vocational student education association, helps students to bridge the gap between the classroom and the business world by giving them the opportunity to learn, first-hand, about the business community.

Consequently, every FBLA-PBL program, service and activity has been designed to achieve one or more of these objectives: provide competent, aggressive business leadership; foster an understanding of American business leadership; help students establish career goals; encourage scholarships; promote efficient financial management; and develop character and self confidence.

The 1990-91 officers are: Kit Zimmer, President; Ok Suk, Vice-President; Christine Rivero, Secretary; Felix Herrera, Parliamentarian; Ly-Cheng Lim, Historian; and Cissy Jin, Treasurer.

CROSSED SABRES

Crossed Sabres as we all know is Washington-Lee's newspaper. This paper is published six times a year. The class meets during their 3rd period each day. During this time the members of the class are in charge of various assignments. Some members are responsible for photographing several activities such as sporting events and Homecoming. Once the paper is published, it contains a section called Student Forum, which is the students' opinions on current issues in the news. It also contains articles about sporting events and various activities happening throughout the school year. The two co-editors are Bonnie Leib and Tricia Clark. The newspaper advisor is Ms. Nester. As Rick Schettler says, "Once the paper is published I see many people reading it. # PENMAN

Penman is the literary magazine at W-L. The publication comes out twice a year, in the winter and in the spring. It contains many interesting articles, ranging from interviews to fiction. Articles are submitted by staff members and other students interested in being published. Because the cost of publication is high, money is raised throughout the year. The staff sells popcorn after school on various days and at the football and basketball games. Penman was a great success this year and the magazines were greatly enjoyed by all.

BLUE

The Blue and Gray Staff has worked extremely hard this year to put together a fantastic yearbook for the students and faculty at W-L. Much hard work has been required of the staff this year.

For each deadline (there are four throughout the year), staff members are assigned a certain number of pages to "create". First, a layout must be drawn, approved, and then drawn again to send to the publisher. Then, an article must be written for each page. Thirdly, photos must be taken (or found as the case may be), cropped, and labeled. Finally, the completed page must be proofread by our advisor, Mrs. Axiotis. It takes a lot of time, patience, and frustration to get through a deadline. Staff members are also required to sell several advertisements that appear in the back of this book.

Of course, there are times when we like to relax and relieve some tension. There are several methods for doing this. For instance, it is a yearbook tradition to embarrass one of our editors, E.J. Terminella, so that we can see the beautiful shades of red and purple that he produces so well. Also, seniors on the staff enjoy collecting posters from various local restaurants to hang in the yearbook office window. When asked how he relieved tension caused by a deadline, Brendan Holland responded, "I shake our editor Hani Hong vigorously."

It is important to remember that the Blue and Gray staff has worked very hard this year to publish the best possible yearbook. We have attempted to put your fondest high school memories in one place. The blue and Gray staff is very proud of this year's publication, with good reason.

Play Ball

For some students at W-L when the bell rings at 2:10 P.M., the day is over. But for you, an average W-L student, the bell doesn't signal an end to the day, but a beginning. You do one of the many sports offered at W-L. Some of the sports include: football, basketball, track, swimming and crew. So the bell rings and you proceed to your locker to get the clothes you'll need for the next few hours. These clothes can range anything from a bathing suit to sweat clothes. So you get into your clothes and head for practice. Then you get 15 minutes into practice and start thinking "why am I here?" Then you come up with the answer "I want physical excellence as well as academic excellence at Washington-Lee." No, that's not it. Well anyway in this section we'll show the different sports affect the different people who participate in the sports, and try to answer that question "why do people PLAY BALL?"

Moving The Pigskin Ball

The night is stormy and the air is brisk. Mud flies as the opposing team's quarterback is hammered to the ground. The group of die-hard fans and cheerleaders erupts with glee. The Generals are on the move again! It's just another night at War Memorial Stadium for W-L's players, coaches, and fans.

This year's varsity football team rose to the challenge of matching last year's great season with a progressive flair. The Generals' offensive maneuvers were spearheaded by the air attack of quarterback, Mike Cowell, who combined effective pass plays with a forceful running-game. The impenetrable defensive line tackled its job of keeping points for W-L's opponents off the board.

Of course, the team could not have been so successful without its veteran coaching staff including Head Coach, Joe Muskett and Assistant Coaches, Rod Apple, Fran Imbrescia, and former Redskin, Viril Seay. For these men, football is King! It is difficult to find them doing anything on a Friday night but anxiously standing on the sideline yelling in plays, arguing with officials, and thinking up new, thwarting plays. Their sincere vigor was truly a valuable asset to the success of this year's Generals!

J.V. — Determined To Stay On The Ball

What a great year of J.V. Football! This group of spirited and determined Generals had one of the best seasons in recent history. With a winning record and a winning spirit, the J.V. team appeared to be invincible!

Head Coach, Mike Murray, and Assistant Coach, Chris Rodger organized this group of players into a well-coordinated team which had a varsity-like character to it. The offensive game relied on the talent of quarterback, Omar Shorter, who had the challenge of playing for both the J.V. and Varsity teams this year. Shorter and his experienced teammates will undoubtedly contribute a great deal to next year's varsity team.

A Fresh Group Of Ball Players

This year's Freshmen Football team tackled not only its opponents, but also the difficulty of being relatively new to the game. The group met these challenges through the help of experienced Offensive Coordinator, James T. Mon and Defensive Coordinator, Richard Cauthen.

The rookie players drew from the experience of their coaches and from each other to create a very successful team. Under the direction of quarterback, Theodore Key, the Freshmen Generals moved the ball down the field as a single unit rather than a group of individuals. This hard-hitting unit got some great results and led the team to victory time after time.

The Freshmen team brought some fresh energy to the Generals' football program. The J.V. and Varsity teams will undoubtedly benefit from the talent that these players will provide in years to come.

Cheering for the Ball

The Varsity Cheerleading squad of 1990-91 demonstrated just how "fired-up" they were determined to be this school year. Aside from having the usual pep, this year's squad seemed to have a look of extreme excitement on their faces when cheering. Perhaps, it was that the football and basketball crowds were always overflowing with spirit or maybe this was due to the fact that the cheerleaders all knew that Washington-Lee would and did win our Homecoming game. This year's victory was the first in over twelve years!

Cheerleading Camp was held this past summer at James Madison University. This was said to have been great fun. In fact, several awards were attained by some of the squad members. Jessica Ward said, "I felt that this year's squad shared a strong bond, which helped us to achieve several honorable awards at cheerleading camp." Once again, this year's squad was made up of many juniors; however, this did not break that special bond that the team shared throughout the cheering seasons.

Ready to Cheer

The 1990-91 Junior Varsity squad was no less spirited than the Varsity squad this year. Having gained experience last year truly built up their confidence and really let them shine, whether it be at a football or basketball game. All the J.V. cheerleaders agreed that winning our Homecoming Game this year really uplifted their cheerleading spirits in all aspects. It is interesting to see how many of the cheerleaders were former freshmen the previous year. All junior varsity agree that they too share a special and unique bond that unites them as one when spending time together and when cheering.

Off To A Great Start

The 1990-91 Freshmen Cheerleading Squad were an eager bunch of beautiful and energetic teens. Besides the fact that they all seemed to have it extremely under control, they worked hard to look so incredibly professional! Some of those cheerleaders must have had some sort of previous experience, after all practice makes perfect. It was rather difficult to tell whether or not they were at all jittery. If so, they sure kept a great cover! There was a total of ten freshmen cheerleaders this year, and every one of them had an equal amount of pep and enthusiasm when cheering. Although, it may not seem like it now, those freshmen cheerleaders will look back on those freshmen days and declare that they were a polished and spirited group.

Unfortunately, the Generals will be losing their one, two, and three seeds after this season, and will be left with a fairly inexperienced team. Coach Alexander put these young women to work early this year, by making practices full of drills to condition them for the season. Caroline Pons, who has played the top seed since her sophomore year says, "This year has been successful for me, especially when playing doubles." This year brought a large turnout consisting of mostly Freshmen, but Sophomore Stephanie Schwino will be called on to bring her skill and experience to boost the Generals next year. The Cross Country team had a successful season this year, because of the hard work each runner contributed. The team leaders were Captains Tom Vale and Laura Smith. Since the end of August, the team had been practicing rigorously, either with teammates on weekdays, or at home on weekends. Races were held at Bluemont Park, where the runners ran a 3.2 mile course. Top runners for the boys were Tom Vale and "Downtown" Jonas Brown, and the top girl runners were Laura Smith and Anne Snouck-Hurgronje. When asked about the future of W-L Cross Country, sophomores Ted Findler and Jeff Hensgen said, "This 1990-1991 team is young and will be competitive for the next couple of years."

The 1990-1991 Junior Varsity Basketball team was a tough team to beat this year. The boys were involved in close games early this season, that were played with uncanny teamwork. Coaching for his first season was Doug Grove who said, "This team is full of excellent athletes, and we plan to use our athletic ability to wear down our opposition." That is exactly what they did this season, by using the good attitude of each player displayed on the court. Some other strong points of the team was the depth on the bench, which enabled the players to rotate in and out of the game. Also, the quickness of the players compensated for the lack of height on the team. Some of the team leaders were Rey Deskins, Maurice Terry, and Jamie Somers, who helped the team both offensively and defensively. ## Shooting For Perfection

This year's Varsity Girls' Basketball team had the distinct advantage of experience. The majority of the team consisted of returning players from last year's team. These girls, under the direction of Coach Lori Grimm, became very knowledgeable about the sport and fine-tuned their physical abilities this year.

Although the group concentrated on team work, there were a number of outstanding players during the season. Returning offensive player, Kirsten Hillgaard led the team in rebounds. The defense was led by the speedy Junior, Venecia Davis. Davis was also known for her ability to keep the team's spirits high. Assistant Coach Zito worked with the players to improve both teamwork and individual skills. Mr. Zito was undoubtedly one of the team's greatest assets during the 1991 season.

This year's varsity team contained a number of outstanding freshmen, including Mira Signer, Lee Harper, and H-B

Woodlawn student Lindsey McBride. These younger players meshed well with the older veteran players to create a team strong on defense. The team's captain was Goalie Melanie Sigros. Sigros was fortunate enough to be assisted by two other co-captains, returning Forward Melia Arnold and Half-back Ashley Golden. With fine players like these combined with an experienced coaching staff, the 1991 Varsity Girls' Soccer Team was bound for glory.

Early in the season, Melia Arnold said of her team, "We are hoping to improve our record from last year through a variety of strong players and team effort."

— Justin Mog

The Varsity Girls' Soccer Team stayed on the ball in 1991 with the assistance of Coach Zito.

The 1991 Varsity Girls' Soccer Team: Back Row: Coach Judy Watson, Karin Petit, Lee Harper, Susan Cmiel, Ashley Golden, Melanie Sigros, Maria Viteri, Lyndsey McBride, Elizabeth Austin, LaShawn McGhee, Mr. Zito. Front Row: Sarah Street, Mira Signer, Jinx McEwen, Melia Arnold, Jessica Blacksten, Linh Tennes, Brenda Del Cid.

Not only could Coach Zito play for the World Cup Brazilian National Team, but he could also show the Generals the proper method of stopping a speeding soccer ball.

Melia Arnold and Ashley Golden get a kick out of keeping their eyes on the ball.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Fancy Footwork For A Fine Finish

The 1991 Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer Team had a number of new freshmen players. These vibrant young athletes learned much throughout the season with the leadership of veteran Coach Mark Turner. The team made up for a lack of great numbers with a sincere effort on the part of all the players. The defense was led by the powerful Mallon sisters, Kerri and Kelli. These and other experienced players combined their talent with the effort of the team as a whole to produce a successful season.

Like the Varsity Girls' Soccer Team, the Junior Varsity Team was joined by outstanding players from H-B Woodlawn. Most notable of these was an eighth grade student named Jeannie Bhuller. Her perseverance and dedication to her home school of W-L was evident in every match she played. With a collaboration of old and new players from around the county how could the 1991 Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer Team have been anything but successful?

Junior Bayn Van Doren said of her team, "I feel that this year's J.V. team has pulled together to make this season a great success."

— Justin Mog

Jocolyn Gibbon and Natosha Safo practice their passing techniques for an important upcoming match.

Margaret Gavian concentrates on staying on the ball.

Fancy footwork like this is what kept the J.V. Girls' Soccer Team on the ball as well as on the road to success.

TRACK

O U T D O O R

RUN LIKE THE WIND

The motto for this year's outdoor track team was "Quality, not quantity". What the team lacked in numbers, it made up with hard work and perseverance. Led by Tad Findler, Dave Scuffone, Michael Hutchinson, and Gustavo Cubillos, the team practiced hard every day of the week. When they weren't on the track, they were in the weight room pumping iron. One of the major meets of the year was the Coolidge Relays over Spring Break. The team was coached by Eric Hill and Butch Britain. The mood was friendly and happy, which provided for many laughs during the season. The first two guys out for the team, Ted Findler and Dave Scuffone, had this to say about track, "Even though we don't have as many people as crew or soccer, we work just as hard as the bigger teams. You don't need a lot of people to form a good, solid team".

Ted Findler has a good time at track practice as usual.

SERVING THE BALL

The 1991 Boys' Tennis team was a young one. The squad was made up of four seniors, two juniors, and four sophomores; five of the players were in their first year of competition. This year's captains were Matt Poteet and Greg Dorwich. The returning players were Charlie Stylinos, Jack Vonghitbuncha, and Nicolas Kulish. The coach was Lorenzo Alexander. He feels that even though the team is in a tough district, they can be successful with the right guidance and attitude. New member Matt Gibert said "Playing on the team is a great experience and Coach Alexander really helps us a lot."

Rowing Toward Victory

The 1990-91 Women's Crew Team was led by captains Caroline Pons and Shauna Vick. The coach was once again Tom Chisnell, for his seventeenth year. The crew team had long practices after school and even on Saturday mornings!

The team was much larger this year, and, therefore, was more flexible and much stronger. Coach Chisnell said, "We had a fun and exciting season. The team worked very well together and it was the largest team in quite a while."

Practices included land training (running many miles, sprinting, and "stair") and rowing on the Potomac. Never a day, rain, snow, or shine, was practice ever cancelled. If there was exceptionally bad day, i.e. a tornado watch, rowers wasted no time and worked on the ergometers.

Regattas were held on Saturdays throughout April and May. Rowers also participated in the Stotesbury Regatta and Nationals; each race lasted two days. The crew team had several fundraisers such as selling poinsettias, submarines, and delivering phone books. The team proved to be successful, purchasing two new boats this year. All in all, they remained victorious and productive.

Coxswain, Kelly Munly, leads part of the women's crew team.

The crew team concentrates on their pace as they row on the Potomac.

Ana Kleymeyer, Lisa Eichers, Anne Snouck-Hurgonje, and Grace Harmon show their talent for rowing.

Boys' Crew: Cruising to the top

The Washington-Lee Men's Crew Team was once again coached by Charlie Butt along with Martin Lowentish and George Kirschbaum. After school (Monday through Friday) and on Saturday mornings the men would row several miles up and down the Potomac River. These practices were extremely vigorous and strenuous. Besides rowing the men would run several miles a day and exercise using different techniques to gain endurance and muscle. Even though the practices were extremely long and tiresome, the men enjoyed the great pleasures of being outside and enjoying nature at its finest.

The Men' Crew Team was led by Captains Mike Callahan and Hank Proctor. They led the team to many successful victories at the Regattas. These Regattas were held throughout April and May on Saturdays. They competed with many teams around the nation.

Like the women's crew team, the men's crew team also raised money by selling sandwiches, poinsettias, and they also delivered phone books to many Arlington County homes.

(blank stare, surprised look) SHSSRB . . . Y!: (Sugar is unfashionable) Hey, you're not an oriental QP that hangglides on doritos (right Karen?), falls off swings, attracts hispanics, is an agent for Trippfall Records & does stupid things like taking buses to REM concerts! Well, maybe you are. Remember the moron series, Mahmood films (gently pump the brakes), BJ & candy in the park, TMBCG, BJ, REM — next time we'll drive & the mmp series w/ BM! Say, is that a diploma in your pocket . . . or just plain stupid? Caul me, we'll tauk. Smeister: You are the master of DC night driving — & a great lounge singer too. Remember PD, Big C & all the other 'characters' at PBC, JC Superstar, Les Mis, bad movie parties & title reading at AMC. Sometimes I miss AMC. Then I think of Jim & Ezra . . . then I laugh. Hey Jude: Remember girl scouts (swish, grrr), meetings at McD's, the trip to England (& NY & FLA & NJ), absences, cooking sherry, Tower & all the plans that never were. And what would I have done w/out Mel, Feed me, the picture of Mr D, your interesting outlook (have you ever noticed . . . & BCYSAGD?) & of course, these great discounts. Freedom: We've hit rock bottom! L Mermaid, farm parties & BJ — if he comes back, I'm there! Whose that geek in 'sweatin to the oldies'? Fern: Keep away from runaround Sue. — Bobbi Jo. Léhona . . . your stupid! Thanks for the advice you hypocrite. Why do I eat gyros? Remember gym soph yr, math every yr, #1-127, le petit garcon avec le grand rouge tête & spinning alg. teachers. Gayle: Nintendo, SMBros, tennis, Bholly, Burke, Liberty — what a man & unused advice. You're a hypocrite too. Karen: Lets graduate while the graduatings good! Who was that moron at mini golf? Master B Matt the Music Meister: motion (you know ) Bruce: Thanks for everything — especially putting up w/ me for 9 yrs. What would you do w/out all' my info? Oh! By the way SHSSRB . . . Y! Who sent you that flower? Maybe it was Freshly Squeezed Juices! Well thats it. Love — Moonbeam, Bobbi Jo, Hans-Hans, etc.

Note. All abbreviations are for lack of better words. Hans Hans. Hey homeless, whats up? Yes I made it! Its wild man . . . who ever though we'd survive this long? From Fellow Babies & to Tower & Roys — now Hardees. There's not much to say, but I'll leave you w/ this little collection of all the known phrases I've said throughout the yrs: oh sweat, Hickory Dickory Dock . . . Why do I get so emotional? Mom, can I ask you a question? Peoples — the convenience you want, the savings you deserve! Think of the discounts. Have you never noticed . . . ? This would never have happened if you had gone straight to the police! . . . Hey baby . . . gotta girlfriend? Aint no thing but a chicken wing. I'd drop you like a bad habit, silly rabbit. And of course, GSAFBD, JSABCOSOOMA BCYSAGD? My characters: Chester the CM, Mel & of course Feed Me. SHSSBR . . . Y!: Moose w/ an attitude. You psycho Pablo: Great having you in Spanish. Sarah (PDS Flower Child) I'll see ya at work! Tumbleweed, Dino & Cone Head: Long live salads from Giant, chili, bagels & crooked people at Ballston. To all those I've left out . . . Its been real. Love ya, Hudy, Venus, Crazy Puerto Rican, etc. To the Dennys Crew, case I know you'll read this sooner or later . . . Anne: "Hey, what color am I?" Don't forget the socks. Willie: Your a sweetheart. Don't eat chicken. Mark (Elmer): I want a raise! Kevin (McD's Early Bird): Your mother! Putz: Moose! Mike (Blue Light): "You know I've been thinking . . ." Mike-E: Lay off the toilet seat covers! Tony: Remember — Oh Tony you're so sexy, no I'm just cute! And to all the other campers too many (& too costly) to name . . . You guys are great! Love ya, "Tweety" PS — Remember: "Its 3a.m., do you know where your restaurant is?" V Blood F. MOOSE! and everyones favorite "WOW!"

Sarah — What can I say? I'm glad I got to know you better the past 4 yrs & I hope we stay best friends for yrs to come. PS You never ate leaves at my house! PPS I love your impressions. Janus — Hey, your not a dental floss oriental w/ no arms & a duck swinging from your nose hairs! I'll never forget REM, TMBCG, or BJ. Hey, lets leave her! Better yet lets go to 7-11 or Tower! Remember, RADAR spelled backwards is KAYAK. Absolutely Not! Thanks for all your Trippfall releases & mmmph productions. Manilow (because its Christmas) is #1! Smester — You idiosyncratic sadistic rambling twisted little oriental, you! Thanks for all your letters. They made me ponder. Some day, probably a long, long time from now, we'll look at NY & have a good chuckle. PETA — People for the Ethical Treatment of Acronyms. Basket Case & bad horror movies rule! Jude — Mi nombre es Maria Guadalupe Azucar Tijuana Carlotta Archipelago! Moose (w/ an attitude)! Thanks for being my favorite People's person. The discounts there are great! No matter how you deny it, your MG's stereo system was the best, especially when the metal plate in the head kicked in. Wanna go drive around aimlessly & look for a dance club? Hey lets catch our sweaters on escalators or something! Karen — CHESTER! How's Leonardo? Don't hit him too hard — remember what happened last time. Next time we work a b-day party, lets bring some treats. Remember: I eat kids & my brother thinks he's a banana! Shirl — thanks for being the most awesome locker partner ever! The haircuts were fun. Thanks for keeping me awake & aware in all the classes we had together (esp. w/ Brother & Uncle Tom!) Lay — You halfbreed! Tennis & warrior badminton soph. yr were great. I love your most interesting conversations about your escapades. The other Karen — thanks for keeping me sane in math. Remember — today is the first day of the rest of your life! Lisa — Remember the clothes on the car? THAT WAS ME! HA-HA-HA! Annemarie — Thanx for the headbands! Carmen — Love the hair. Euge — Moo./ CHRIS, JUS, NAO, OWIE, ANH and all you people that are stuck here for at least 1 more yr, HAVE FUN! And remember: Optima dies prima fugit. (the best days are the first to flee) From Sugar, SHSSRB-Y, Shugs, Mary, etc.

moonbeam — what to say what to do what the hell? / don't you hate it when your toe nail gets snagged on your sweater and in order to get it out you have to rip your nail out and then you accidentally grind your exposed flesh in salt and run it up and down on a razor deiced with alcohol? / just curious/hard to believe it's been 4 yrs in this pile — can u believe it — of not to be bitter of course/remember singing las vegas style on the crew bus? / wasn't life swell? / how's about lita ford — kiss me once. kiss me twice. kiss me dead! / i'm glad you were there to help bring out my inner sadistic self. i guess that's what i like about you. hey, hey hey/remember scumon, whips and chains, and why did gerry fall off the swing? / cus mrs. garrett pushed her! dearest sbosm — y — looky here. i have a lot to say and little space to say it in so listen up/when i first saw u i wondered what the hell's that, but i soon discovered it was you. it had to be you (a clump favorite but i never liked it)/anyways, thanks for being such a cool CHUCK, and i'm glad you were there to talk to during my depression phase/ what would've i done?/well, i'd probably would've wound up as some deranged med student's calaver to touch, and get, and squeeze, and to everything else a normally maladjusted necrophilia would, not that i'd know/by the way, what position do you sleep in and do you consider yourself sweet meat? / just curious? hey jude — don't make it bad, take a sad song and make it better/how's my fav people's camp? / thanks for all the extra special discounts and that one special instance, you know what i mean/well isn't life special? / i'm in a lowly fresh and meet us graduatings/wait is that an unclack shirt your wearing? / when you remember people like al the sha hanna, the bicker, and the jelly green giant. i hope you'll remember me as well/if not i'll hunt you down anyways! / hugs — personally i think you're addicted to that hair spray stuff, ease up on it. besides i think you look better without it/thanks for all the funtimes/say do you wanna go while going 60 mph + on any weekend night? / Or we can always go pick up/ Sarah — we're not too desperate, are we? / thanks for being me home that night/cool can. great place for illicit activities/AMC, what a thrill, not! cus — boo! Lay — i still think you're overly insecure, but listening to all your escapades was most enlightening/still, i think if u do it at least enjoy it a little bit more! / freedom — having rules/to all those i've mentioned (and not) — just in case any 1 of u guys happen to whip this out in 10, 20, 30 yrs. all i ask is remember, keep in touch and a REALLY MEAN IT! (then again i could be lying, i never know!)

Smeister

J.H. — We've hit rock bottom! K.C. — Hey turkey, you big jerk water! That's beautiful, what is that velvet? May there be more slick Grove moves in our lifetime. J.V. — I am one with laughter when you're around. R.S. — What a friend! Guess what? I know where your house is. Guess what else? I'm excited about our friendship. Yay! (kindergarten cop) Bons — Notebook nights are much a fond memory. . . Do you know my cousin? You're awesome! M.G. — You slow hut! It will be hard to blossom without you. S.S. — You're the best! Don't forget that famous tuck a la Richard! G.H. — Ninja, you are awesome! L.F. — You are the biggest nerd in the universe! Don't ever change your laugh. I'll never forget those happening funnel cakes. J.L. — You putt putt stud you! E.C. — You're a real bud! Eug — I speak Spanish, Taco! J.S. — You are too cool! To all the Mads — Remember. . . No Stress! I love all you guys! C.R. — Is that your natural scent or are you wearing Anus Anus! J.M. — Just Beginning!! Richard has such a variety of aerobic outfits! K.S. — My one and only dear! There could never be another. J.B. — Ain't your mama pancake-stule! C.H. — You ARE Pancake Man! To all my friends — I love you guys!!!! I'll Miss You!

Big Hugs and lots of love,
Lisa

Lisa — Never forget all the wonderful things we've done our late night adventures, Greek God's hair, our adorable younger man, endless phone conversations, Bennigan's, football games, and our "Airplane" film festival. And remember — My name is "Sadr". It means peace in Indian. Put that candy bar down or I will call 192. Leona — Just think, we made it through four years in this place without committing any major felonies. And things have changed since freshman year! Some of them actually matured. Karen S. — I am now $0.11 million's over! And admit it dear, you did forgive me. Karen C. — We're all at the same table! Yeah! Janice — Coffee talk! Hannukah Harry! Do you want to touch my monkey? Just go straight and if anything gets in your way — TURN! Eugenia — Just say no! Tricia — Can I join your NKOTB fan club? I'm going to beat you to Mel! Eduardo — How can I control my life if I can't control my hair? Cristina — Gossip seasons! And by the way, you have something stuck in between your teeth. Would you like me to remove it? Pat — Stop spanting! Bruce — I'll see YOU in the weight room. Eugenia — I confused you, didn't I? Jana — I am at one with snow. Rick — We have to do something about that drinking problem. And remember, I speak jive. I know you are a closet Harry Connick Jr. fan. Don't deny it. Susan — Swearin' to the oldest! Pat — Just kidding! I hope you had a great B-day. Brendan — I ain't forget all the E.H. schmucks. And I still think you should try pastels. Naoma — Good luck with Key Club next year! Justin — I think you should try the Richard Simmons look. In purple. WELL GUYS, IT'S BEEN GREAT! BUT I AM OUT OF HERE! GOOD LUCK AND CARPE DIEM! I LOVE YOU ALL

Bonnie

Annemarie — sticks popping out, side to side! Myrtle, your loud nose — HONK! Kirsten — Hey Child! We've had a good four years, haven't we? You corrupted me forever! Elena — Child, it's been great being friends with you, and I hope you had a good senior year. "I can't breathe!" Pelicosa! Janice — Hance, your glasses! I know, "Leona, you're stupid!" Sugar and Janice — Basketball for IQ points, "I pulled a leg!" Kate — Remember 6th pd Bakeries, like smoking, & his dress shopping. Thuy — Remember talking on the phone late at night — actually in the morning. Twin — Remember our tans & hankies, working at Everthing Yogurt, buying Bitchies nugglys, and eating Italian food. Super — I hate you for going to Cornell, but hopefully you'll learn to walk straight, you S.O. — From a H.B. Gayle — Thank for the advice and talks about stressful problems. Tracy — Cheerleading was fun with you, even though we had to be L.P.s some of the time. Remember, we have Lis & a F.C. Lisa — Hey Babe! We're finally graduating. Remember movies freshman year. Fun times in math and Penman — "Chair, window, what's the difference?" Mads was great. I'll never forget the good times we had in Florida & in the Bahamas. Also, I gotta at Casa Maria's. One more thing — please learn how to drive before you kill someone. Bonnie — Hey Ban Bona! We're finally finished with Hemingway, and all the other unpleasant experiences at the past 4 years. Remember th "G.S. tuxo" and "death by chocolate." Where was the Twix anyway? To my great friends Bonnie & Lisa. Are you guys repulsed? I did good didn't I? Thanks for a fun 4 years.

I don't want to see this phone bill, STOP, I WANNA PLAY! Not another ticket, What's wrong, nothing, are you absolutely, positively sure? I want to be a stripper Hun. I'm the Boss! I'm God! Not until I'm 40! My night or Bryan's? I'm going to Springfield this weekend. It's like a tradition. Awe . . . I want a big fat chew! Where ya going? Brush your teeth first, Stop picking! I made a promise to myself, Hey, what did I tell you about that! Definitely a big butt and a smile, Groove is in the heart, I'm not like that! Ho! Ho! Ho! And to all my other friends, thanks for everything, I'll miss you all! Love, Melanie

To All My Friends

The year is over and we all made it. I don't think I would have without your help and your support. Thanks for everything. I will always remember the good times that we shared together. Good Luck Class of 1991. Mel, I will never forget you for being such a good friend. Thanks for being there for me when I needed you!

Love ya,
Ok

P.S. Let's try to forget your little friend!!

TO: HORACE, ANDRE, WALLACE, & OTHERS

Horace — You are the man. Too smooth. We have been through a lot of situations man and made it through all of them. Football season was a lot of fun — you are an incredible running back. We had some bad luck but Willis and Cowell always stuck together till Yorktown . . . But let me stop about that and get to basketball. You are the best guard, best forward, and best center in the state. I'm serious. You always did what needed to be done and never failed. Good luck in the future — I'm sure you will be successful in whatever you do. I love you man.

Andre — Little Dré. Part of the famous HAM crew or Fab. 4 during football. We also have been through a lot. You and all your women. Thanks for all the delivers you made for me. It helps me out a lot. Football season was good for us. We made a great team. We should have went deep more often. In basketball you did a great job and are one of the best point guards around. Baseball season we are going all the way. State champs. Good Luck with everything in the future — I love you, man.

Wallace — Player-Player-Player. But who's to talk right? You are the man Wallace. We were close this year and helped each other a lot. You are always a part of the group. Fab. 4 during football. Too bad you didn't get more chances. It could've made all the difference. Good Luck next year and beyond and do you need to borrow my car? I love you, man.

Buck & Dré — Remember all those crazy things ya'll maac me do too. Like hit circuit city trucks and make joggers start high-steppin' runnin' across the road. Also — doing 360's while going 75 mph in the snow. Then going across medians and almost hitting road signs. You guys are crazy but not as crazy as me. I love both of ya'll and remember the MATH & HAM crew.

John B. — You are crazier than me! Probably the only person. Remember you can never beat my 5.5. I don't care what you are driving. Also all your Y-Town girls. You are a serious Casanova. Good Luck in the future and keep in touch.

Ghita — 2,2,2 sexy! Thanks for all the help with Math. You and your sexy body. Good Luck next year. I will keep in touch.

Melanie — I have known you for so long and I just want you to know you are the sweetest girl I know. I love you so much. Good Luck w/ Brian and soccer — You are also the best goalie in the state.

Carolie — Thanks for always shutting my locker and helping me with Government. Good Luck next year and keep in touch.

Michelle — Thanks for everything — you are the best cheerleader in the country — !!!

Lara — #8! I love that song. Thanks for everything. I'm glad we got together this year. You do look sexy in those Guess jeans . . .

Carla — What can I say? We have had so much fun together in our years at W-L. You will be my SL always and forever. Good Luck with everything! Ted-D & Bay-B.

Melia — We have been through a lot together. Thank you for everything you've done for me. We will keep in touch. 3311.

1991 W-L Baseball — This is the best year guys. We are going all the way. State champs. Scott — switch-hitting is easy right? Rob — You are the man. Undefeated pitching this year. Pat for a left-hander you are alright. Brian — you are almost as fast as me. By the way were you in any of your classes today? John C. — Clutch hit last year — all the time this year. Greg — 1st year on varsity — good job! Ethan — Can you hit .500 on Varsity too? & my main man Speedy Dré — playin' the whole outfield.

And last but not least — I gotta mention my boy Mooky. Best pitcher W-L has ever seen and also the smoothest.

GOOD LUCK TO EVERYONE ELSE — I'M GONE! PEACE!!!

Bouncing Away

Nearing the end of the year, you realize how much you've been through and how much you've changed. You stop and think about the new people you've met and those you had to leave behind. For freshmen, you have matured to the level of an experienced high school student. Sophomores, after your first year of actually being allowed to pick on someone younger (namely the freshmen), will soon be considered upperclassmen. Juniors will rule the school, and Seniors will say "We're outta here!"

It is the end of another year, the end of dull, boring classes, the end of tests and exams, and the end of another year, and the end of this book. However, for some, it opens up new beginnings and opportunities. All felt satisfaction with the completion and experience of another year and the gradual approach of adulthood. You are finally getting into the kick of things and are taking control of your life. All of you managed to keep your minds intact as you bounce away to further heights.

— Hani Hong

Many students enjoyed extra-curricular activities throughout the year. Bruce Hickey, president of the Social Studies Honor Society, decides to liven things up a bit.

Senior Corey Mazer explains wholeheartedly to Betsy Stevenson his feelings about finally leaving W-L.

The Year

Madonna caused much havoc with her new controversial video, "Justify My Love."

"Please Hammer, Don't Hurt 'em" was M.C. Hammer's second album, selling close to five million copies. Hammer's shows included 32 performers, all with great talent.

Despite the apparent end of the Cold War and the liberation of Nelson Mandela, peace did not prevail. On August 2, 1990, Saddam Hussein, ruler of Iraq, invaded Kuwait. January 15 . . . the deadline for war. Despite many attempts for peace, war was declared on the 16th day of January, 1991 and Operation Desert Shield became Operation Desert Storm. The war in the Persian Gulf had a profound affect upon the nation that was evident in the daily activities of Washington-Lee.

— Hani Hong

Communism no longer ruled Eastern Europe. Demonstrators demanding an end to the Communist Party domination lit candles and placed flowers on blood-stained sidewalks where police attacked protesters.

Ingenious creator of the Muppet Show, Jim Henson passed away on May 16, 1990, but left behind many memorable characters.

In Review

After many long years of struggling, East Germany and West Germany united, becoming the Federal Republic of Germany on October 3, 1990.

President Bush and U.S.S.R. President Gorbachev were successful in ending the Cold War after many years of hostility between the two nations.

Kevin Ellis listens closely as his teacher, Mr. Harcopos, gives him the instructions for the day.

The view of our beloved school, as seen by the over 100 drivers each day.

John Coursey and Mike Callahan take a quick break from their homework to put on a smile.

These seniors stop to show the photographer that they are still on the ball.

WHATIF

Last night, while I lay thinking here,
Some Whatifs crawled inside my ear
And pranced and partied all night long
And sang their same old Whatif song:
Whatif I'm dumb in school?
Whatif they've closed the swimming pool?
Whatif I get beat up?
Whatif there's poison in my cup?
Whatif I start to cry?
Whatif I get sick and die?
Whatif I flunk that test?
Whatif green hair grows on my chest?
Whatif nobody likes me?
Whatif a bolt of lightning strikes me?
Whatif I don't grow taller?

Whatif my head starts getting smaller?
Whatif the fish won't bite?
Whatif the wind tears up my kite?
Whatif they start a war?
Whatif my parents get divorced?
Whatif the bus is late?
Whatif my teeth don't grow in straight?
Whatif I tear my pants?
Whatif I never learn to dance?
Everything seems swell, and then
The nighttime Whatifs strike again!

Poem by Shel Silverstein
With all the Whatifs in the world today this poem represents what a lot of the students at W-L were thinking.

Senior Matt Seidman is thoroughly amazed at how long he's stayed on the ball.

The Yearbook shows that they were on the ball in '91.

Sean and Kelly look towards their senior year with an air of optimism.

Now, at the closing of another year book comes the thanks and the technical info. The pandemonium would never have ceased if it were not for the multitude of help we received from many generous people.

One of the first we must thank is John Bailey, our representative from Josten's Publishing Company. We owe him a tremendous amount of gratitude for supporting us throughout. To Mrs. Axiotis, I must say that we truly appreciated everything you did for us. Thank you for your tolerance, patience, guidance, and support. You were a wonderful sponsor and we thank Connie, too, for patiently waiting for us after school come deadline days and for keeping you so happy.

Thanks must also go to Patrick Tien for his many contributions in the photo department. To Kyle Talbott I say "Thank you" for his excellent artwork found on every divider spread. Each was a true work of art. Kyle should also be credited for designing the cover and spending hours to bring it to perfection. We are grateful to both — our deadlines would not have been met if it were not for their help.

Of course, I must thank my Co-Editor, E.J. for having done everything from refereeing fights to blowing up pictures of mountains. E.J. kept the staff in line when it became overbearing and I thank him for his incredible patience and equanimity. Without his creativity, generosity, and assistance, I wouldn't have been able to make it without him.

Thanks also go to Brendan Holland for his "executive decisions" and mirth-provoking captions. His witty inspirations have surely helped this book reach it's ultimate height.

We are thankful to Segall Majestic for developing some of our pictures and sending them back in time for deadlines. And I thank the entire staff for all of their hard work and for making this yearbook possible.

Special thanks must also go to Mrs. Gerber for her help during the first month of school. We thank her for her understanding and versatility.

The 64th volume of the Blue and Gray was published by Josten's Publishing Co. The cover is laminated lithograph using the colors pms royal blue and 10% black. The book has 248 pages, 16 of which are in color. Part of the Student Life section was in process blue mixed with 30% black. The main typestyle used is Palatino with headlines varying according to each section. Headlines on the divider pages and the page numbers and locators were in Mistral type. Mug shots and some candid were taken by Segall-Majestic. The year book was sold for $30.00 a piece. The theme, On the Ball is credited to Lori Dolby and E.J. Terminella.
